PLANNING ENGINEERS TELL ARRLINGTON HEIGHTS BUSINESS MEN

Modern shopping area needed to save business district

Fifty members of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce representing business and industrial interests Monday noon were given a preview of what could be the Arlington Heights business district of the future.

The event in the form of a noon-day luncheon was arranged by the Planning Commission. It was held at Rolling Green Country club.

Mr. Rockwell of the engineering firm of Stanton and Rockwell presented by words and drawings his thought for the transformation of the present staid business section into a modern shopping center.

Many of his suggestions were startling, but it was admitted that the proposed shopping center, as painted by the speaker, was in the realm of possibility although its accomplishment might require several years.

MR. ROCKWELL said little about immediate changes in the present handling of shopping and commuter parking. He confined his talk almost entirely to the master plan.

The plan submitted is based on the assumption that a woman shopper is not willing to walk over 300 feet to a store to be patronized. Thus the engineer's map located sufficient shoppers' parking areas to handle a thousand cars—all within a short distance from existing stores. The commuters are provided with parking lots for 586 cars.

With proper parking area, Mr. Rockwell thinks Arlington does not need any more pavement, except for re-location of a street or two.

ARLINGTON Heights citizens have been thinking about a new depot for years. Mr. Rockwell places one on paper in the center of Evergreen st. at the railroad. That depot building in his opinion should also have space for small shops.

The speaker advised the closing of Evergreen st. railroad crossing because of the small amount of traffic that passes over it.

The master plan calls for:

1. Have the Northwest hwy. by-pass the business district by having it follow Central rd. and Wilke rd. and with the establishment of proper zoning prevent the establishment of business lots on the new route.
2. Closing of Evergreen st. crossing.
3. Grade separation for State rd.
4. Re-location of Davis st. north of the park trees, thereby consigning the present Davis st. to shopper parking.
5. New depot with stores.
6. Campbell st., between Vail and Evergreen st. to be reconstructed as a mall with center parkway and for use of shoppers only; no vehicle traffic.
6. Extension of Davis st. thru the property of Tibbits Cameron Lumber Co., providing a thoroughfare to the eastern edge of the village.
7. Addition to the present municipal building to the north, making it into a civic center.
8. Commuter parking along E. Davis st. in a large lot east of Tibbits Cameron Lumber Co. capable of handling over 500 cars.
9. One northside parking lot for commuters.
10. The extension of the present shopping district to S. State rd. especially making use of the so-called Pfluger property of 20 acres, which would provide adequate parking facilities for adjoining shops.

At the conclusion of the presentation of the master plan, Rockwell answered many questions, one of which was the possibility of the establishment of an outlying shopping center adjoining Arlington Heights. He replied, "The answer rests with Arlington Heights business interests. If a modern and attractive shopping center is provided within the town, there would be no inducement for establishment of a similar district on the outskirts."

TWO EARLIER tentative reports have been submitted by Stanton and Rockwell to the Planning Commission. One was a progress report and the other dealt with industry.

Traffic on State rd. is two or three times as much as on Evergreen, but Vail is heavily used.

Population increase was placed at 13,000 in 1960; 15,500 in 1970 and 18,000 by 1980.

Business men should consider the relationship between sales and parking facilities. If Arlington business does not recognize that fact, there will be a competitive business district spring up in some undeveloped area, where there will be plenty of parking space.

At present the Northwest hwy. and the railroad are a "Chinese wall" in the shopping center, dividing the town and business district into two sections.

Rockwell thinks that the future growth of Arlington Heights will be towards the south.

Due to mechanical difficulties in the preparation of a plat that will be readily understood, the master plan will not appear until next week.

Primary candidates to be guests at Republican tea

A community open house and Candidates' tea will be given by the Wheeling Township Regular Republican Woman's club March 2 at the Arlington Heights field house, between 3 and 5 p.m.

The purpose of the tea is to introduce all of the candidates who have the support of the Cook County Regular Republican party to their constituents from the townships of Wheeling, Barrington, Elk Grove, Leyden, Hanover, Maine, Niles, Northfield, Palatine and Schaumburg.

IN ORDER that this affair be a success, Mrs. George Schneberger, program planning chairman; Mrs. Barnie Runge, campaign activities chairman; Mrs. Charles Hamburg Jr., hospitality chairman, and Miss Vera Folkman, publicity chairman, will combine their efforts and their committees.

In recent months the activities of the club have grown due to the political interests and enthusiastic efforts on the part of the women of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights. A successful series of monthly informative program meetings was held with willing and capable speakers such as Marguerite Stitt Church, Grenville Beardsley, Arthur Bidwill, William N. Erickson and Bernice T. Vander Vries. These names are other than just "names on a ballot" to the women voters of Wheeling township.

Also, during the recent registrations of new and transferred voters, there were 1,900 new registrants, which is the largest number reported in this area at any one time in the past. This, the members of the club feel, can be attributed mainly to the diligent hard-working members of the campaign activity committee, Mrs. Barnie Runge, chairman. This committee worked thoroughly in the precincts, contacting new residents and checking transfers.

The membership committee, Mrs. Pearl Fues, chairman, will accept membership from anyone interested in becoming a member and having a part in the club's activities. There will be an opportunity to join at the open house March 2. A membership booth will be set up for the convenience of prospective members.

Everybody is welcome to attend the team, which includes the men as well as the women. There will be short talks following the introduction of each candidate.

Boy Scouts February paper drive Saturday

The February paper drive by the Arlington Heights Boy Scouts will be held Saturday.

Residents will be reminded of the drive Friday night, between 7 and 8 o'clock, when Cub Scouts from a few of the dens will conduct a "bell" parade. They will ring bells and tell residents to have their scrap paper and old rags ready for the Saturday morning pick-up by the Boy Scouts.

CHIEF AND MRS. ELROY WINKELMAN

Chief Winkelman marks 25 years as fireman; given surprise party

Fire Chief Elroy Winkelman and his wife were guests of honor at a surprise party Saturday night given by the Arlington Heights fire department and its auxiliary, to celebrate the Chief's twenty-fifth anniversary as a fireman.

"Winkie," as the Chief is called by all who know him, joined the fire department February 21, 1927, and was appointed a lieutenant. He is only the fourth chief the department has had since its founding nearly 60 years ago. The department's first was George H. Peter, serving from 1894 until 1905. George K. Volz was then appointed, serving as chief until 1939, when he retired and was succeeded by R. H. Jahn.

THE PRESENT chief was appointed in 1947. In appreciation for his service the fire department gave Chief Winkelman a wrist watch, inscribed: Twenty-five years service—AHFD—1952—E. J. Winkelman. The gift was presented by Assistant Chief Marvin Rodewald, who gave a brief talk about the department's past achievements and its dreams and hopes for the future.

Mrs. Winkelman received a beautiful red rose corsage. Among the guests were three honorary members of the fire department, William Guenther, a charter member, and a veteran of 40 years; Alex Lips, who served 38 years, and Frank Schulenburg, a veteran of 32 years.

Winkie joined the department at the time it was thinking of replacing its old Jeffries fire truck with a new model pumper, but action was not taken until September, 1927. At that time it was suggested a bond issue be floated to buy the new pumper and also to erect a new building for the fire department.

A YEAR LATER the department purchased a Seagraves 600 gallon pumper, but the new building did not become a reality until February 1932, five years after Winkie joined the department. The next 20 years saw an addition of a General fire truck and pumper in 1937, an inhalator in 1938, a LaFrance pumper in 1948, an E. & G. resuscitator in 1950, and an emergency truck in 1951. Winkie worked along with all the men on the department to make this one of the best equipped volunteer fire companies in the area.

The ladies auxiliary of the department brought food for the midnight buffet supper. The evening was spent dancing to the music of Wally Hahnfeld's orchestra.

Other officers heading the 23-man volunteer fire department are: Ed Guenther, captain; George Gaare, chief engineer; Walter Duenn, lieutenant, and Martin Heidorn, secretary-treasurer.

Local landscape architect designs gardens for Chicago Flower Show

Because Harold O. Klopp, of Palatine, is consulting landscape architect, local gardeners will sit up and take notice of the 1952 Chicago Flower show presented by the Garden club of Illinois at the Congress hotel, March 14 through March 18.

Klopp is well known throughout this area for having launched many gardeners into "landscape gardening" through his classes at the adult evening schools in Arlington Heights and Des Plaines. He also has a leading part in planning the landscaping along the new Edens expressway.

Klopp is recognized as one of the leading exponents of the modern, informal design in landscaping. He has selected "Outdoor Living Today" as the theme of the club's twenty-fifth anniversary show and designed a variety of gardens which will have many practical suggestions to offer those interested in terrace gardens, gardens for moderns, shade gardens, two wall gardens, for teen-agers, and settings for barbecues.

He has incorporated in these gardens his ideas on the modern trend designed to serve the people in their outdoor relaxation, to afford easy maintenance to the beseiged gardener, to provide "year-around" beauty and a place in the garden for the children and the teen-agers. Another objective is to demonstrate the correct use of flowers, shrubs and trees in the garden and the effectiveness of flowers in home decoration. All plant material used in the show will be listed for the benefit of horticulturists.

The club's "Silver Anniversary Show" is expected to welcome Spring to Chicago in a magnificent colorful spectacle that promises to surpass any previous show.

Faith church to celebrate 5th anniversary

The fifth anniversary of the founding of Faith Lutheran church in Arlington Heights will be celebrated in two special services Sunday, February 24, at 10:45 a. m. and 4 p. m. Within the span of five years this young congregation has grown to number 900 members with 425 communicants and 360 pupils enrolled in its Sunday school.

The lannon-stone church on S. State rd. was erected at a cost of about $120,000 when the congregation was two years old.

In the morning jubilee service the senior choir under the direction of Edward Setzer and the Junior choir under Arthur Preuss will render appropriate anthems of praise. The pastor of the church, Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, will preach and a number of new members will be welcomed.

Rev. Arthur A. Yoss of Ascension Lutheran church of Riverside, Ill., who guided the congregation before the installation of the resident pastor and directed it in its organization, will return to preach at the afternoon service. The combined vested choirs will sing "Fairest Lord Jesus," and the children of the Sunday school will offer the hymn, "My Church! My Church! My Dear Old Church."

Friends and neighbors in the community are invited to both services and the fellowship supper which will be served by Faith Ladies in the parish hall after the anniversary vespers. Music, entertainment, and the "Story of Faith" with illustrations will be the main features at this social event.

Faith church expresses its sincere thanks to the village, the park board, the Arlington Hts. Herald, and many other good neighbors whose kind services contributed greatly to its establishment and growth.

School bus, auto collide; no one injured

No one was injured early Tuesday morning when an Arlington Height school bus and an auto collided at Patton ave. and Elm st.

Allocation received for required steel; hasten to let contract

With the NPA approval on controlled material for the proposed sewer and water improvements in Arlington Heights, the village board authorized the advertising for bids on the project Monday night.

The necessary steel for the project has been allocated for the second quarter of 1952 and it is therefore necessary to go full speed ahead in order to get all the preliminary work out of the way and have contracts awarded. If the project is delayed beyond the second quarter it would require a lot of red tape to get the steel allocations moved up to the next quarter, which might even result in their loss.

DEADLINE for bids is 8 p.m., March 27, at which time the board will hold a special meeting to open and read the bids submitted.

Steel for the proposed widening of S. Dunton st., from Davis to Sigwalt, has also been approved by NPA. It will be necessary, however, to iron out a few more "kinks" before actual work on this project can begin.

The water and treatment plant projects have been on the fire two years. After extensive studies by the village board and engineers an ordinance, approving the projects, was passed in the fall of 1950.

A PROTEST petition, bearing approximately 700 signatures, was filed with the village board, resulting in a withdrawal of the original ordinance and the appointment of a citizens committee.

That committee held a number of open meetings and hearings, but it was not until the fall of 1951 that it officially gave its approval to the village board.

The required ordinance was then passed but the steel situation caused the board to hold up advertisements for bids. They appear in this week's issue of Paddock Publications.

The treatment plant project is approximately a $700,000 job and in addition to the enlargement of the present plant provides for a relief sewer and other underground work.

ANTICIPATING the construction of a reservoir and new well, the village board recently purchased from Chas. Klehm, 8.5 acres of land south of the Creamery Package plant, upon which a million gallon water reservoir will be built.

The two projects will cost a total of a million dollars. A quarter of a million general obligation bonds will pay part of the cost. A sewer-use charge, based on water consumption, will provide part of the needed funds. There will also be a slight increase in the present water consumption charges.

Mass meeting to discuss industry

A mass meeting will be held at the Arlington Heights high school auditorium Wednesday, March 5, at 8:00 p. m.

The pros and cons of annexing some 60 acres of farm land on Central road for light industry will be presented by a special citizens committee appointed by Mayor Albert Goedke.

Specifically, the committee will present facts covering the advantages and disadvantages to the village in allowing the Roth Manufacturing company, a subsidiary of Vapor Heating Corporation to erect a plant on the site under consideration.

Here is an opportunity for all interested residents of the village to get all the facts and to do away with opinions and unfounded rumors.

The Citizens committee needs the help of all interested citizens in gathering pertinent facts. Any resident of the community who has information that would be of value to the committee is urged to promptly send such information in writing to any of the following men on the committee in care of the village hall.

The mass meeting will be open to all.

CC secretary job open

Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, due to "manpower shortage," is considering the appointment of a secretary on a part time basis, which practice is being followed in many towns of comparative size. It prefers to offer the position to a local resident (male or female).

Requirements would be approximately 20 hours a week.

Knowledge, familiarity or adaptability to civic promotion work is essential.

If you think you can sell Chamber of Commercial facilities and service to Arlington Heights business men, arrange for an interview with Harry Knaack, Arlington Heights 2100.

The local Chamber desires to get the best fitted person available and is anxious to secure at this time applications from all persons interested.

Mt. Prospect gets new PO building; Arlington waits

The post office department has accepted a proposition made by Herman Meyn for a post office building in Mt. Prospect. It will be erected south of the tracks, near Emerson st.

Provisions for alley entrance and adequate parking were among the requirements asked by the government.

The building is supposed to be ready for occupancy by July 1. Arlington Heights is still waiting for similar action.

Tenants complain about rent increases; board meets with management

Rent controls were again brought to the attention of the Arlington Heights village board Monday night, when a letter, signed by 16 renters in one apartment building, was read by the village clerk, Forrest Davis.

The signers charged that their landlord had unjustly increased rents since they were decontrolled and asked the board to take action to reestablish rent controls in Arlington Heights.

The management of the apartment building will be asked to meet privately with a committee of board members, to further discuss the matter. The agent in charge of renting the apartments told this paper Tuesday that he would be more than happy to meet with the board members and has offered to open his books for their inspection.

The bid of Reiland and Bree, Inc., Northbrook, for two new trucks for the village was accepted. Their bid for $10,362.54, which includes allowances for the 1941 Chevrolet dump truck and 1948 Diamond T dump truck, covered one International 4-wheel truck, model 1-192, and one International 6-wheel truck, model LF-172.

First services held in new St. James Catholic church

The new St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights, construction of which started nearly two years ago, is so near completion that the first mass was held in the new edifice at 6:30 a.m. Sunday.

The 16-note chimes, sounded for the first time at 6 a.m. that morning, was the announcement to Arlington Heights people that the church was ready to receive its first worshippers.

It was a momentous occasion for St. James congregation which had such a small beginning in 1902. It meant the realization of a dream its members have had for years—a church edifice in keeping with the strength of its congregation and a Catholic monument built to its patron saint, St. James, whose figure rises above the altar in the 30 foot high sanctuary.

THE INTERIOR of the church is so beautiful that it will be one of the show places of the community. The outstanding feature is the hand-painted windows, the work of a Dutch artist, who spent six months to complete his work. Six of the windows are 8x14 feet, and two windows near the altar are 10x14 feet, each with two side windows, 2x14 feet.

A double mural in fresco colors adorns the front wall, which also has an eight foot oval window, designed of such bright colors that regardless of outside light, gives forth a bluish glow.

The figure of Christ predominates these windows, which represent Pentecost, the Wedding Feast, Baptism of Christ by John the Baptist, Commission to St. Peter, the Last Supper and the Resurrection.

The auditorium will seat 700 persons in addition to the choir above the entrance. The floor is covered with rubber tile and all furniture is made of limed oak.

THE COMMUNION rail is of imported Rouge Royal marble from Italy. Green marble, imported from France, forms the base of the main and the two side altars. The wood carvings of the statues and of the 14 stations were imported from Italy.

The beauty of the windows is so inspiring that they preach a multitude of sermons and are worthy of inspection by persons of every creed.

They were the work of Rev. William Randag, a Franciscan father of Amsterdam, Holland, brother of John Randag of Arlington Heights. Father Randag has been designing and painting stained glass windows and painting church murals since he was ordained in 1923. Works of his are in churches throughout Europe and South America.

FATHER RANDAG'S services are so much in demand that he had to receive permission from the head of the Franciscan order in Rome in order to paint the windows at St. James.

Father Randag first sketched the scenes and colored them with water colors. He then made drawings the size of the windows for the guidance of glassmakers. They, in turn, made the glass panes in the required colors and cut them in the shapes indicated by the drawings.

The pieces were temporarily leaded together to form the windows. Father Randag spent several weeks painting the details of the pictures with a neutral paint containing iron. When he finished the pieces of glass were removed from the lead seams and baked in an oven for 24 hours. The baking fused the paint and glass. The pieces were then reassembled according to the drawings and leaded together permanently.

Police continue search for missing woman

The search for Mrs. Virginia Wing, 29, of 618 N. Belmont ave., Arlington Heights, continued this week, but according to the sheriff's police no new leads have been uncovered.

Mrs. Wing, mother of three children, disappeared January 23 after leaving her home for the train station to pick up her husband, Robert. Her car was found abandoned the next day near Algonquin.

Free Family Party of John F. Garlisch at Arlington high school

Residents of this area are invited to attend the free Family Party Friday night, February 22, at Arlington Heights high school sponsored by John F. Garlisch & Sons, International Harvester dealer.

Included on the program, starting at 8 p. m., are Texas Tommy and his horse, Baby Doll; M. C. George Johnstone and Betty, outstanding TV comedy act; Candis White, acrobatic contortionist; and Rocky Mountain Mary, playing the songs folks like to hear; and travel and educational films.

Another step forward is being taken this week by Paddock Publications with the mailing of this week's papers by the new Speedaumat mailing machine. Shown above is Al Duenn mailing the first papers with Karl Kanitsch assisting.

The new machine does away with all "yellow labels" which have often come off and been the cause of missing papers. The Speedaumat, coupled with the Graphotype which makes the plates, means a $3,000 investment for the publishers in the quest to speed the mailing of papers to subscribers.

CIRCLING THE TOWN
BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Sports week in Arlington Heights, it appears, got underway last Friday night with the dedication of the magnificent new gymnasium at the high school. Sparkingly clean, brilliantly lighted and, above all, mighty spacious, the opening games and the ceremonies attracted close to 3,000 spectators.

The basketball contests were but 50 per cent successful with only the frosh-soph team coming out on top. The varsity lost a close battle, but the local giant, Jay Vawter, scored 33 points in a one-man scoring spree. Hinsdale was the opposition in the league contests.

The between-game ceremonies, with Athletic Director Wally Grace doing most of the honors, served to introduce several members of Arlington's original basketball team as well as outstanding athletes of other years. Several coaches were presented, too, including Gene Bell, coach for several years up till this season, and Noble Puffer, now county superintendent of schools and a former coach here.

The band with its large membership, had ample room to spread out on the new stage, large enough to accommodate most any imaginable activity, and the spectators, seated for the most part in the balcony on the retractable bleachers, could see from any place in the gym.

From just one visit, it is already apparent that the new gym at Arlington high will be put to mighty good—and frequent—use.

Tonight, Thursday, the Kiwanis club of Arlington Heights will present for the sports fans a diversified program of interest to those of many tastes. Featured will be movies of this year's Rose Bowl game which pitted the University of Illinois against Stanford and which, of course, Illinois won.

A prominent speaker obtained for the evening, too, is Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, who should give the lowdown on the 1952 hopes of his team.

Also on the program, to be m.c.'d by radio announcer Vince Lloyd, are three University of Illinois athletes, two of whom are Arlington boys. Marv Berschet, captain of the track team and defensive lineman on the championship football team, and golf captain Verne Rascher are both from Heights, while quarterback Tom O'Connell will also speak. He is a Chicagoan.

Tickets for this event are still available at the Arlington Pharmacy, Lohr's or Millay's as well as at the door tonight. They are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. The festivities will be held in the high school auditorium starting at 8 p.m.

Congratulations to . . .

Mrs. Richard Bronwell and the others who so ably helped her to put Arlington "over the top" in the blood drive. Close to 500 donors signed pledge cards to give their blood during the two day stand of the Red Cross bloodmobile. So great was the response that the Red Cross sent extra staff workers and extra beds to take care of the folks who wanted to donate. Particularly noteworthy was the response from commuters.

Which goes to show, with hard-working leadership and good publicity, Arlington people will come through for a cause they know to be as outstanding as this one.

Name cast for 'State of the Union,' next Village Theatre play

Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, director of the next Village Theatre production, "State of the Union," to be given April 18 and 19 in Arlington Heights, has announced the members of the cast.

The parts will be portrayed by the following: David V. Shaughnessy as James Conover; Douglas Anderson, Spike McManus; Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Kay Thorndike; Robert W. Hutchinson, Grant Matthews; Mrs. Edward L. Mills, Norah; Mrs. R. Derek Barton, Mary Matthews; David Meineke, bellboy; Joseph D. Crittenden, Sam Parrish; Curtiss Dahl, Swensen; R. Derek Barton, Judge Alexander; Mrs. Robert Hawley, Mrs. Alexander; Mrs. Joseph Crittenden, Mrs. Draper; Robert B. Bishop, William Hardy; and Paul Breitsprecher, Senator Lauterback.

This play is being sponsored by the Arlington Heights American Legion Post, which will use its share of the proceeds for veterans' rehabilitation work.

"State of the Union," by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, is a timely show, dealing with a presidential candidate for nomination who refuses to lower his ideals to suit those of the political machine, which is more desirous of the political gain they can make from his nomination than they are for the good of the country.

The theatre group held its regular meeting Thursday night, at which time Mrs. Walter Edelblute reviewed the play, "Death of a Salesman." Other entertainment by the talent bank was a scene from "The Man Who Came to Dinner," directed by Mrs. Douglas Anderson and cast on the spot.

TO FINE OR NOT TO FINE

Like many other customs of long standing the practice of charging fines for overdue books has been challenged. The argument goes like this: The public should be encouraged to make the fullest use of the books and other materials provided by the library. Fines cause resentment and therefore work against this goal.

Such criticism has merit but the important result of this view has been, not that fines have been abolished, but that librarians have been forced to reconsider the purpose of the fine. It is unhappily true that many librarians actually like heavy fines for this means additional revenue. Incomes for public libraries have generally been so small that this attitude is understandable. However, today more and more communities are providing through taxes sufficient funds for good library service and it is no longer necessary to regard the public's pennies as a means of survival.

THEN, IF fines are not for the purpose of additional revenue, their purpose must be solely to show in a concrete way that the library's materials should be available to all, hoarded by none.

The question then becomes: how can fines be reduced and still serve this purpose? One way is to increase the loan period slightly. Three instead of two weeks for all materials not in great demand decreases fines and at the same time gives the reader time he may actually need. Another way is to decrease fines for children. After all, they should not be expected to have the civic responsibility required of adults.

These two devices have been adopted by the Arlington Heights Public Library and it is hoped that the library's patrons will not resent the fines they may incur but will realize that they seem to be necessary. Ideally the date due should be signal enough to the reader that he must have his books back before that time but until Utopia we may have to keep fines as an extra warning.

Another week I shall discuss something as new to the public library as fines are hoary with age: The Rental Shelf.

Bob Virgil will MC the program, which will open with the school song. Bob will give a short talk about Arlington high and will then introduce a skit about George Washington, "Corn Meal and Poetry."

Participating in the skit will be Blyth Morrow, Russ Rennaker, Mary Ann Leoffer, June Kritch, Dorothy Kirchvogel, Grace Bracto, and Charlotte Johnston. The script was written by Marge Wemlinger, who also directed the program.

School news will be given by a new student in the class, Barbara Schmitz. A song of the week, chosen through popular demand, will also be played, and the program will close with the singing of the school song.

New industrial arts curriculum at AHTHS

After a number of months of discussion and study, the industrial arts department of Arlington Heights high school completely reorganized its curriculum and started using the new instruction this year.

Under this new curriculum the freshmen enrolling in industrial arts I take nine weeks, or one quarter, in each of the four shops, wood, electric, drawing, and metal.

There are several advantages in this arrangement. Boys who do not have room in their course of study to take more than one year in industrial arts, have the opportunity to get acquainted with the tools and simple skills in all four areas. Boys wishing to continue in the vocational curriculum, will be able to choose the areas which are of most interest to them.

In the second year the boys sign up for one semester each in two of the four shops. This allows for the beginning of specialization in the areas of most interest.

In the junior year a boy may enroll in one of the shops for the whole year. During the senior year, two shop courses may be taken, each for the full year.

The electric shop course is new this year. Because of the wide use of electricity in the home and elsewhere, a basic knowledge of electricity is highly desirable. The electric shop, along with the other shops, is offered to all industrial arts students on the same basis as outlined above.

The boys in industrial arts I are almost unanimous in their agreement that the present curriculum is excellent. The instructors also agree it is a big improvement and that it will do a better job of meeting the needs of boys in this area.

HONEYBEE FURNACE

Contrary to common belief, honeybees do not hibernate as bumblebees and as so many other insects do. When the hive temperature drops to 57 degrees the bees cluster together and eat honey to generate the necessary heat for comfort. The size of the cluster increases or decreases with the fluctuations of the outside temperature.

No attempt is made to heat the entire hive — the bees on the outside of the cluster furnish such good insulation that the hive around it will be almost the same temperature as outside the hive.

The outer bees are kept at a temperature not lower than 43 degrees by the heat of the bee furnace in the center of the cluster where the temperature will vary up to 93 degrees.

The queen bees start laying eggs in January and soon after the worker bees must feed the young larvae. At this time the center of the cluster must be kept about 93 degrees to hatch the eggs and develop the young bees. With nothing but the fine energy food HONEY the bees have no difficulty raising the temperature as much as 100 degrees in subzero weather.

From the end of brood rearing in the fall until the queen begins laying again, the bees require only about ten pounds of honey per hive of 20,000 to 30,000 bees for fuel to keep warm.

Old Mirrors

Don't throw away an old mirror just because it has a bare spot. It can be fixed for use in a summer home or child's room. Cover the spot on the back of the mirror with tin foil and apply fresh shellac over the foil and the mirror. The shellac, when dry, will secure the foil to the mirror.

Bear Meat

Bear meat was a favorite delicacy of the Mound Builders of Ancient America, who also enjoyed wild turkey and venison. All the "trimmings" for a mouth-watering meal could be found in their market place which was piled high with "colorful heaps of melons, squash, beans, potatoes, tomatoes, bright red peppers and corn."

THE HEART OF A BOOK

by FLORENCE ZWANE

PART II

Last year, Mrs. Elisa Bialk, well-known author of popular juvenile books, spoke to students of the Junior high school in Arlington Heights about what might be called "the birth of a book."

She kaleidoscoped the many details which go into the process of creating a book and having it published. She gave a vivid description in which her book, "Ride 'Em Peggy," came to life. She gave many humorous sidelights on how a family and an author work together, and indeed, are often the inspiration for new books.

THIS WAS TRUE in the case of the book mentioned above, for it came as an outgrowth of her daughter's repeated request to have a horse of her own. Family councils attempted to direct the thinking toward the infeasibilities of housing and exercising an animal of such proportions in an apartment locale of Chicago. Attempts were made to try to fathom the extent of the interest in this new venture, and to try to come to some agreements about responsibilities in the event that this idea were to become a reality.

From all this came a book. The seed was planted in the home, and as it grew, the family was included in watching it develop and allowed to indicate improvements where they saw them needed, and all worked toward its successful completion. When the manuscript was ready, it was again submitted to the family and then taken to the publisher.

At the publishers, the book was analyzed for content, vocabulary and saleability. Again, corrections were made and new conferences held about format, illustrations and details concerning the final transition from manuscript to book form. The entire process had already taken a year in the doing, and still the book was not on the stands.

AS AN established author, Mrs. Bialk had already surmounted the obstacles of being initiated to the copyright laws, the haggling over financial matters, the choice of an illustrator, and finding an interested publisher. The entire presentation served to impress the audience that merely having an idea for a book is only a fractional factor in the final outcome.

It must have been gratifying to the author to have children rush up to express their admiration for her books as did the students on this occasion. In a small measure, it must be the same feeling that a librarian gets when some patron returns a book with the comment of, "Gee that sure was a good book you picked out for me last time. Do you have any more like it?"

So, it is more than merely a job of writing a book, finding a place for it in the library, and processing, classifying and making it available to readers. This task of bringing a bit of enlightenment, amusement, or a chance for vicarious adventures to the patron is the mutual responsibility of the writer, the librarian and the reader. Bibliotherapy, a new term in educational parlance, is just a new way of saying "getting the right book to the right person at the right time," and heavy lies the responsibility on anyone who wishes to maintain this standard.

FEW PEOPLE today live in isolation such as was common to the solitary cave man and his message on the wall. Interests are ever-broadening and ever-changing, but still books are a very effective mass medium in preserving the thoughts of mankind, and in acquainting the world's peoples one with another. We, as Americans, should appreciate the privilege of having the opportunity to read whatsoever we please and whenever it is convenient.

This librarian would like to have her patrons consider the library as a sort of literary smorgasbord, where each may choose from the variegated offerings what looks appealing, and in such quantities which will satisfy his hunger for "the word."

George Washington said it first.

This week, the celebration of Washington's birthday brings to mind the story about the famous cherry tree. Whether he said, "I cannot tell a lie" . . . we don't know, but the father of our country did say, "honesty is always the best policy." The founding father of A&P — George Huntington Hartford—had the same idea when he said, "Always do what is honest, fair and sincere and in the best interest of our Customers."

That's the spirit that has always guided the folks of A&P. It always will!

Trained leaders vital to Girl Scouting program

by CONNIE KIMBLE

Volunteer leaders, ready-willing-and-trained, are perhaps the most important cog in local Girl Scouting machinery. Without the 117 leaders, assistants and troop committee members, all local housewives who volunteered their time, Arlington Heights could have no Girl Scout movement.

Mrs. Leslie Beckway, training chairman of the Arlington Hts. Girl Scouts, recently reported to the board of directors regarding the training of volunteer leaders during the past year.

In the spring of 1951, a basic leadership course was given at the field house with Mrs. Louise Vaughn of Wheaton conducting the 20-hour course. Twenty-one leaders attended the training sessions and the cookout held at Camp Pine.

In the fall, Mrs. Vaughn returned to conduct evening classes, assisted by two new volunteer trainers, Mrs. Fred Lunsman and Mrs. Leslie Beckway. From this session, 23 new leaders received their cards.

A TOTAL of 27 leaders from Arlington, Palatine, Prospect Hts. and Mt. Prospect attended a one-day brush-up course given by Mrs. Vaughn in October.

In April, two first aid courses were given for Girl Scout leaders at the field house. Twenty people completed the standard course and five completed the first aid instructors' course.

A nature course given in May by the Forest Preserve District at Camp Pine was attended by three leaders from Arlington Heights. The day camp training course, given by Mrs. Walrab of Mundelein, was attended by 38 leaders. This consisted of 12 hours of training, with two outdoor sessions at the field house and a cookout at Camp Pine.

To top off the year, Mrs. Beckway was able to get the Binney and Smith Co. to present their art workshop course usually only given to teachers. It was a 15 hour course held in December at the field house and was attended by 25 leaders.

OBVIOUSLY, new leaders are well taken care of as far as training is concerned. The Girl Scout council hopes that lack of experience will not deter any interested Arlington Heights women from becoming leaders, as adequate training is planned for every new volunteer.

Newcomers to Arlington (as well as citizens of long-standing) interested in doing Girl Scout work should get in touch with Mrs. Frank Harris at 2742.

PTA study group plan panel discussions

The second in a series of study group meetings for parents of grade school children is scheduled for the last week in February. These meetings are sponsored by the Arlington Heights PTA, with the idea that parents might like to discuss problems they have with the parents of children in the same age group.

All three study groups this month will be in the form of panel discussions, with parents and teachers comprising the panels.

"Must Families Feud?" will be the topic for discussion at the primary study group meeting, Friday, February 29, at 8 p. m., in the South school gym. This group also will discuss, "What can we expect of the relationship between brothers and sisters?" Members on the panel will be Mrs. Fredric Holderman, leader; Mrs. Charles Searles, Mrs. Robert Hawley, Victor Beisler, and Robert Gammage.

The middle grades study group will meet Thursday, February 28, at 8 p. m. in the North school auditorium. Panel members for this group are Mrs. M. Edward Smith, leader; Mrs. David Zimmerman, Mrs. E. J. Emery, Earl Hadland, and Verne Faust. Their discussion will concern allowances, sportsmanship, games, and honesty.

Leader of the panel discussion for the Junior high school group will be Mrs. E. J. Harris, assisted by Mrs. Harold Lussow, Mrs. Maynard Whitelaw, Mrs. Marion Hamilton, and Dr. Joseph Brant. This meeting will be held in the Junior high cafeteria, Wednesday, February 27, at 8 p. m. They will discuss "When should your child begin to make his own decisions?"

St. Peter church resumes early Sunday service

St. Peter Lutheran church of Arlington Heights will again hold an 8 a.m. Matin service on Sundays. This service will be introduced the first Sunday in Lent, March 2, and the service will be held the year 'round.

These services are intended to last about 50 minutes. The public is invited to join in worship at this church. The other regular services, at 9:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m., will continue as usual.

Woman's club schedules two noteworthy study group meetings

An unusual autobiography will be the subject of the book review presented by Mrs. Warren Fellingham at the next meeting of the literature and drama group of the Arlington Heights Woman's club. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Breitsprecher, 45 S. Ridge ave., February 25 at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. H. B. Rose will be co-hostess.

"Step Right Up!" by Dan Mannix relates the author's fascinating experiences while working with a traveling carnival and depicts a side of life not familiar to the average person. Dan Mannix tried his hand at almost every job available in a carnival, from barker to animal trainer. Both Life magazine and the Saturday Evening Post have featured stories about some of his trained animals.

Mrs. Fellingham is well qualified to do justice to this unique story. Her interesting book reviews are familiar to many local residents. She has appeared before such groups as the Church circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, as well as the Woman's clubs of Palatine, Oak Park and Park Ridge. She is a graduate of Drake university and has a knack of projecting her own charming personality into her reviews.

All club members are welcome to attend this meeting which promises to be one of exceptional interest. Please telephone reservations to Mrs. Breitsprecher at 2014-M.

American citizenship group

The American citizenship study group will meet at 2 p.m. February 26 at the home of its chairman, Mrs. H. R. Jacobsen, 1111 Watling rd. The theme of this meeting is "National Citizenship."

Short original orations will be delivered by three speakers from the Arlington Heights township high school speakers' bureau. All three students were winners in the high school speech tournament, and this will be their first public appearance in the community.

Blyth Morrow, a senior who won first place in the tournament, will take for his subject, "The Handwriting on the Wall," by Grant Barnes.

Rodney Peltier, a junior, will speak on "The Big Parade" by Wesley Carty.

Ralph Allen, a senior, will deliver "Come With Me, and See What I Have Seen" by Kenneth Walsh.

These sincere and moving talks are of a thought-provoking nature intended to impress on the minds of listeners the advantages of American citizenship and the menace of subversive forces which threaten America's way of life.

All club members expecting to attend this significant meeting are requested to telephone Mrs. Jacobsen, 1746, for reservations.

The co-hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. M. F. Maher.

Meet me At Van Driel's Where You Can Serve Yourself!

California, here we come!

Mr. and Mrs. William Zinkel, who left Arlington Heights last November for "sunny" California, send greetings this week to all their friends.

"We thought California was a nice place when vacationing here," writes Mr. Zinkel, "but now that we actually live here we think it's wonderful. When it rains here, of course, it really rains time and one-half, but we don't mind that because we're used to Illinois weather."

The Zinkels find living much cheaper, and good paying jobs plentiful around Glendale. Gas for heating, hot water and cooking amounts to only $5.49 for two months.

Chain stores do a big business in California and many are open 24 hours a day. Most of them, however, are open until 9 p. m. every day except Sunday, at which time they close at 6 p. m. Television reception in Glendale is excellent, according to Mr. Zinkel. At present they can get eight different channels on their set, all of them as clear as a bell.

"The only ones who have trouble with TV reception are those living on the mountainsides," continued Zinkel, "and many times they're lucky if they can get one or two stations."

When the Zinkels want lemons, they just step out into the back yard and pick them off their own tree. They have purchased a 21 year old house, which they are remodeling to suit themselves. The grounds are covered with beautiful flowers of every variety, the previous owner having really gone into raising flowers in a big way.

The Zinkels' son, Myron, and family are also living in Glendale, and he is just as enthusiastic about California as his parents.

High school girls organizing Senior Girl Scout troop

A group of Arlington Heights high school girls, all former Girl Scouts, are organizing a senior unit. Several years ago a Wing Scout troop existed, but when the most enthusiastic workers had received their "wings" pins, the troop was allowed to lapse.

Now another senior troop is being developed, and registrations are still open. The first meeting was held at the home of Marilyn Behrens February 20, and the next meeting will be held at Cyndy Tice's February 27.

Their plans, still in the making, include a large roller skating party in March, two overnight camping trips, one of them with a visiting senior scout troop from a neighboring village as guests.

The most hotly debated question at the moment is that of deciding which of the many possible activities to concentrate upon: hospital aides, community safety and health, dramatics or the one of international friendship, which at the moment is the most popular.

In case this latter program were agreed upon it involves contacting a sister troop in another country, exchanging letters and information with them, with the final objective of making the trip, as a troop, to visit them. To do this the girls must learn to be good ambassadors for the United States, learn the language of their hostesses, earn the money for expenses, and be prepared to play hostess when the other troop comes a-visiting.

Under the leadership of Miss Dolores Hudson of the Arlington high faculty, and Mrs. Fred Tice, both old hands in Scouting, and with a troop committee including Mrs. David Zimmerman and Mrs. Chas. Hollander of Arlington, Mrs. Garner Williams and Mrs. William Fischer, of Mount Prospect, the group of girls plan a very active program with wide contacts both in service to the communities and in contact far beyond that. Any girl, whether or not she was formerly a Girl Scout, may become a member, so long as she attends high school. For information ask Marilyn Behrens, Cyndy Tice or Miss Hudson. (AM

Romance of Jewelry

Birthstones should be worn with pride and pleasure. Most people know which stone signifies the month of their birth, but few know the traditional meaning of the stones.

Each stone carries with it its own particular symbolism. The garnet, worn by those born in January, has a calming influence on the quick-tempered; makes one invulnerable in battle; and is the symbol of constancy.

The man who wears the amethyst, the February birthstone, will attract the woman of his choice according to tradition. The stone represents good judgment and sincerity.

The aquamarine, gem of the moon, brings luck and banishes fear according to legend. The bloodstone is famed for its good-luck properties. Both the stones are worn by those born in March.

The emblem of purity, the diamond, the birthstone for April, is said to promote love of husband for wife. It is said to be the creator of harmony and lasting wedded happiness.

The symbol of hope and faith is the emerald, the gem of lovers and sacred to Venus. This stone is given to those born in May.

The birthstone for the month of June is the pearl or moonstone. The pearl is the emblem of modesty and purity, while the moonstone holds within it a so-called "living spirit potent for good."

It is said that the ruby, symbolizing the month of July, should be worn on the left side for best luck. It is the messenger of peace and concord and the protector of property.

The stones for August are the sardonyx or peridot, both of which are symbols of true felicity in marriage. The deep-green peridot is a rare but beautiful stone known since Biblical times.

The sapphire, the stone for the month of September, protects those who wear it against harm; foretells the future, and symbolizes constancy and truth.

Birthstones for October are the opal or the tourmaline. The opal symbolizes hope, innocence and purity. The tourmaline, which symbolizes peace, comes in many lovely colors.

Long considered as the gem of friendship, the topaz signifies upright character in the wearer. This symbol of fidelity is worn by those born in November.

Those born in December have as their birthstones either the turquoise or lapis lazuli. The turquoise is the stone of victory and prosperity. The lapis stands for truth and is especially favored for men's rings.

Did you know—

—that pearls which are found in the kinds of oysters which we eat in North America never have the luster to make them of any value?

—that there are not only blue sapphires, but purple, violet, green, yellow, orange and pink sapphires as well; and that the ruby and sapphire are the same species of stone except for their color?

Lorraine Schoepke and Martin Fanz are wed

Community Camera

In a double ring ceremony February 16 Miss Lorraine Schoepke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schoepke Sr. of 28 S. Vail ave., Arlington Heights, became the bride of Martin Fanz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Fanz of Brookfield.

Rev. John Sparre of the New Apostolic church of Brookfield officiated at the ceremony held at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Busse, 210 S. Highland ave., Arlington Heights, at 5:30 p. m. Baskets of gladioli and snapdragons formed the setting for the wedding. Miss Arlene Busse played the piano.

The bride wore an ice blue satin ballerina length gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, an illusion neckline trimmed with tulle and long pointed sleeves. Her blusher veil was held in place by a small white pill box cap, and she carried a nosegay bouquet of white roses.

Miss Eleanor Schoepke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a rose taffeta gown fashioned with a fitted quilted bodice and a full skirt. Her nosegay bouquet was of rose carnations.

Donald Vewerbaugh of Indiana was best man.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the Elk Grove Inn immediately following the ceremony.

Following a week's honeymoon in the Ozarks, the couple will make their home at 81st and South Parkway, Chicago.

The groom, a naval lieutenant, will report for duty March 31 in Miami, Fla. The couple will leave for Florida March 15.

DAR chapter to sponsor Husbands' night

Eli Skinner chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will inaugurate "Husbands' Night," when, for the first time in their six-year history, members will entertain their husbands. The date, between Valentines day and Leap Year day, has been set for February 28 at 8 p.m. Establishing another precedent, the chapter will meet at the village hall in Mount Prospect.

Vice-regent, Mrs. L. W. Kester, has prepared a special program. Harwood Hoover of Mount Prospect will speak on "Communism and Democracy in Japan."

Mr. Hoover comes from a family that has long been active in the career services of the U. S. government. His father was attached to General Douglas MacArthur's staff and before that assignment was president of the Civil Service association of the United States and Canada. Familiar with the Japanese language as was her husband, Mrs. Hoover studied the teaching system in Japanese schools and also collaborated on a Japanese-American cook book.

Harwood Hoover was graduated from Northwestern university, where he majored in political science. Immediately following his graduation he entered the navy where he spent more than three years and received the Admiral's commission. In July of 1949 Mr. Hoover went to Japan as a civilian, but under direct orders from General MacArthur, on whose staff he served in the Civil Service division.

Spending almost two years in Japan, Mr. Hoover's assignment was to aid in setting up a civil service system in the Japanese government, which has more than two million people employed in that branch. This was part of a plan of presenting to the Japanese people what they pronounce "Democrassy."

Now personnel director of the treasury department in Chicago, Mr. Hoover is also a member of the Civil Service assembly and the Federal Personnel council. His remarks at Thursday's meeting will, of course, be those of an individual.

Chapter members had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of Mrs. Hoover earlier in the year when she talked on "Occupation Wife."

Mrs. C. Glenn Kaiser is chairman of hostesses. She will be assisted by the board. (B4

Novel youth's desk uses filing cases and presdwood top

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

The cheerful red and white kitchen in the Ernest B. Foxworthy home at 417 W. Wing st., Arlington Heights, is the scene of many delicious culinary achievements.

The praiseworthy cook in this kitchen, Mrs. Foxworthy, shares with us two of her favorite recipes. One is for a rich, calorie-packed Southern Pecan Pie, and the other is for tasty Date-Nut-Bread.

"The pecan pie recipe originated with an old Southern Mammy down in Tennessee," said Mrs. Foxworthy. The bottom of an unbaked pie crust is sprinkled with nutmeats and the syrup mixture is poured over this. While baking, the nutmeats rise through the filling.

Mrs. Foxworthy serves this pie topped with whipped cream which is flavored with a few drops of almond extract. It makes an elegant dessert!

The second recipe contributed by Mrs. Foxorthy will make two loaves of delicious date-nut bread. The bread is easy to make, and tastes extra good.

Pecan Pie

3 eggs
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
1½ cups dark Karo syrup
1½ cups broken pecan halves
1 unbaked 9 inch pie shell

Beat eggs and blend in melted butter, flour, vanilla, salt, sugar and syrup.

Sprinkle nuts over bottom of unbaked pastry shell. Gently pour the syrup mixture over the nutmeats and bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 10 minutes, then reduce heat to slow (325 degrees) and bake about 40 minutes.

When serving, top pie with whipped cream flavored with a few drops of almond extract.

Date Nut Bread

1½ pkgs. of chopped dates
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 cups boiling water
2 cups sugar
2 tbls. butter or other shortening
2 beaten eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts
4 cups flour
Pinch of salt

Put chopped dates in bowl and sprinkle with baking soda. Then pour boiling water over the dates. Stir quite often and mash dates as you stir. Allow to cool.

Cream together the sugar and shortening and add the beaten eggs, vanilla and chopped nuts.

Then add alternately the flour with pinch of salt and the date mixture.

Line two loaf tins with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour or until done. It may take a little longer, depending on the size of your loaves. This recipe makes two loaves size 5x9 inches.

Community Camera

St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights was the scene of the wedding February 16 of Miss Irene Kutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kutz of N. State rd., Palatine, and Gordon Stade, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stade, also of N. State rd., Palatine.

Rev. Luther V. Stephan officiated at the ceremony held at 7 p. m. White gladioli decorated the altar, and candelabra lined the aisles. Miss Florence Lunning sang "Because" and "O Promise Me" accompanied by O. Kolb at the organ.

The bride wore a white gown of chantilly lace satin fashioned with a net yoke trimmed with pearls, long pointed sleeves and a long train. Her fingertip veil trimmed with chantilly lace was held in place by a tiara headpiece trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white calla lilies and carnations.

Miss Eleanore Kutz, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown fashioned with a red velveteen bodice and a skirt of white brocaded net over white taffeta. The maid of honor carried a heart-shaped bouquet of red and white carnations.

Ossy Renardy well received by concert group

by JOHN SCHAFF

The third concert of the present season of the Arlington Heights Community Concert series was presented in the auditorium of Arlington Heights township high school Sunday evening by Ossy Renardy, world famous Hungarian violinist, and his accompanist, Wolfgang Rose.

Mr. Renardy has been appearing in the United States since 1937 with the exception of four years service in the U. S. army during which time he played over 400 concerts for his fellow soldiers, Red Cross, and War Bond appearances. He is the owner of one of the most famous Guarnieri violins called the "Cannon Joseph" made in 1743 and valued at over $50,000. The violin is said to have belonged to Paganini.

Renardy opened his program with the "Larghetto" written by Handel, an excellent opening number because of its sustaining power and expressive simplicity of melody. He followed this number with the F major sonata of Beethoven, which is one of the happier of the great master's sonatas. The playing called for equal ability of both violinist and pianist, and this work was presented with the greatest of artistry on behalf of both performers.

FOLLOWING the sonata the very difficult Paganini "Concerto" was presented. This concerto, written in D major, possesses every difficulty imaginable for a violin. Paganini himself was an artist whose dazzling genius held audiences spellbound. He took unholy delight in inventing unheard of tricks of virtuosity. Being the marvel of his time, he set a standard for all later violinists to follow. This concerto is only attempted by the greatest of artists.

The closing group consisted of shorter numbers and included the well known melody from "Orfeo" by Gluck, sometimes called the "Dance of the Blessed Spirits;" the beloved "Liebesfreud" by Fritz Kreisler; the Valse-Capriccio" by Wieniawski; and closed with the "Ronde'" by Bazzini, this latter a brilliant display number in double-stopping, harmonics, "flying spiccato" and "left-hand pizzicato." Renardy included the beloved "Ave Maria" by Schubert in the concert arrangement by Heifetz for one of his encores.

Mr. Rose presented a Chopin's Scherzo in B flat minor for his solo offering and responded to an encore with the C sharp minor waltz by the same composer.

Maternity Center fund raising teams meet

Mrs. Donald H. Shaw, 900 E. Euclid ave., Arlington Heights, Mrs. Douglas Smith, 630 Beverly lane, Arlington Heights, and members of their 1952 Chicago Maternity Center team attended a meeting at the Racquet Club, Chicago, February 15, at 11 a. m. It was the second report meeting of the Center's enrollment and fund campaign, which is being held this month.

The meeting commemorated the fifty-seventh anniversary of the Maternity Center, which was founded February 14, 1895, by the late Dr. Joseph B. DeLee, world-renowned obstetrician.

The featured speaker was a young Chicago mother who told about the help she received from the Maternity Center before and during the birth of her children. Her two children, the youngest just three months old, will be in the audience.

The Center delivers the children of needy Chicago mothers in their homes and gives obstetrical training to doctors and medical students.

Presbyterians to hold open house at manse

The First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will hold open house at the church manse March 2 from 3 to 7 p. m.

The church manse was moved last summer from its former location next to the church to its present location at 402 N. Belmont.

March 2 is the fifth anniversary of Rev. C. Victor Brown's ministry with the church.

The congregation is invited to enjoy an afternoon of pleasure with Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Almost two

The first cherub in today's representation of little folks is Kathleen McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCoy of 253 Harvey ave., Wood Dale, Illinois.

This blonde and blue eyed youngster will celebrate her second birthday March 4. "Kathleen likes to be read to and loves to look at books," declared her mother. One of her latest pastimes is using her imagination in the exciting game of "pretend." "As an example," said Mrs. McCoy, "Kathy will sit on the stairs, pretend she is on a bus and give the driver her fare."

Grandparents of this imaginative young lady are Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy of 138 N. Addison, Bensenville, and Mrs. Clara Gjertsen with whom the family resides.

Dark eyes

These big, dark blue eyes belong to Jack Peskuski. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Peskuski of 207 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights. Jack was 3 months old when this picture was taken, but is probably several months older now. We were unable to contact his parents for further information.

Little lady

These pretty brown eyes and light brown hair belong to Linda Wulbecker. She is the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Wulbecker of 413 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Linda is much of a little girl, loves her dolls and cradle. She has a 10 month old brother, Michael, of whom she is very fond. "Linda plays with him all the time," said Mrs. Wulbecker. Yesterday Linda celebrated her second birthday with a party for her friends. Her folks presented her with a much desired bicycle.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Tischer and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Wulbecker of Arlington Heights are the grandparents.

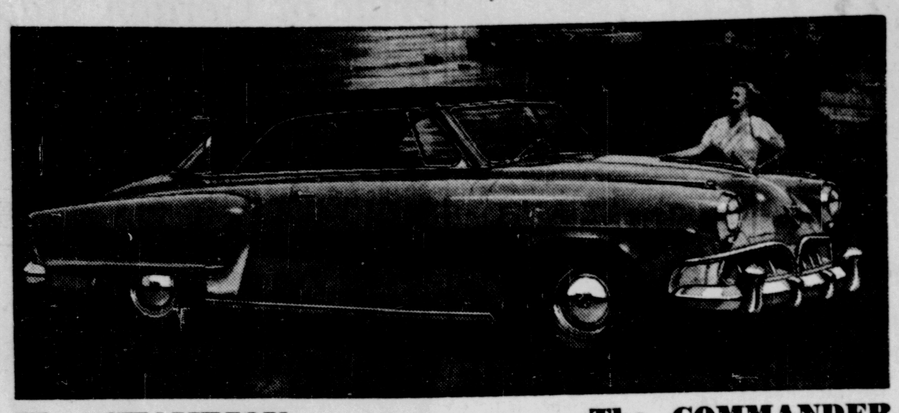

Tippy's keeper

Here's an outdoor boy. He is David Gooding, blond and blue-eyed son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Gooding of 1515 W. Vine, Arlington Heights.

Three and one-half years old David is out-of-doors whenever possible, and as all little fellows, he plays cowboys most of the time. A new TV set in the Gooding home affords many new ways of playing that favorite game.

Tippy is David's beloved dog, and he finds his little master a good provider. Mr. and Mrs. Arthus Anderson of Park Ridge and Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Gooding of Aripeka, Fla., are grandparents of this little fellow.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That all men and nations must come to a demonstrable understanding and worship of one omnipotent God, one divine Principle, one infinite Love, in order to establish universal brotherhood, health and harmony, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 24. The title of the Lesson-Sermon is "MIND."

The Golden Text is from Romans (12:2) "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include the following:

"O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?" (Rom. 11: 33, 34).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Mind is God . . . There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown . . . Mind is the grand creator, and there can be no power except that which is derived from Mind. If Mind was first chronologically, is first potentially, and must be first eternally, then give to Mind the glory, honor, dominion, and power everlastingly due its holy name" (pp. 469, 143).

New ... ssion

Incorporation of a large portion of land in the heart of what was formerly Palestine has given the Kingdom of the Jordan possession of both banks of the lower half of the valuable Jordan River.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

They were just like a great many post-war couples. They had met while he was in the service, and she was working as a civilian employee of that service. After the war, they were married and settled down in his home town. Life was pretty entrancing for a young couple.

They both worked, and they managed to spend a fair proportion of the money they made, probably about a hundred and ten per cent—just like everyone else was doing. And they managed to drink a fairly good percentage of the money they spent. For a year and a half or so, they were just about like a great many others.

THEN CHRISTMAS eve came along—and they had a good-sized argument. In retrospect, it seems that this was the worst they had had. It was drastic enough that they decided to go to church. And they did.

By all odds, that was about the worst thing they could have done. For that was a poor introduction to the miracle of Christmas. It was the same church where he had gone to Sunday school as a boy. In that church they did not make much of Christmas, on the day itself. The congregation did not bestir itself for special services, neither on Christmas day nor Christmas eve. When they walked in and sat down, there were not more than a dozen people there with them. Not only had the organist not made it, no one who could play a piano had come to the service.

IT IS THE contention of sensible servants of the Gospel that God performs His miracles in the hearts of men and women. And this is what must have happened. For at the conclusion of the service, they both said that they would come again Sunday. The strange thing is that they did. They came for the next six or eight Sundays, missed one week, and set out on a new series of eight or ten Sundays.

By summer she was teaching in the vacation school; soon they were both teaching in church school and singing in the choir. And not too much later, he was an officer of the church.

THEY SAID ONCE, "If we are out late on Saturday night, we have no excuse for Sunday morning. It is imperative that we come to church school prepared and on time, or else we stay home Saturday."

A fortunate thing for them is that they know where they took the turn that made their lives different. They know that that Christmas eve was a turning point, that life would have continued in the same way, that their arguments would have been more serious and more frequent.

It was no power of their own, nor of their minister, nor of that church, which caused their lives to turn at that unfavorable Christmas eve service. But the grace of God came home to them and gave them a fresh start, which they were wise enough to accept and follow.

Manufacturers, faced with the problem of cutting the cost of wiring electronic devices, enlisted the aid of industrial finish engineers. As a result, a special metallic finish was developed which is a good conductor of electricity. This eliminates a painstaking method of laying wires, saves production time and cuts costs.

People who hold the safety of others in their keeping should be required to have good eyesight. And vigilant watch should be kept to make sure that they do. The engineer involved in a recent disastrous railroad wreck was said to have very little vision in his right eye.

SHOPPING with SHARON

My sales resistance goes way down the moment I set foot in Flaherty's. This jewelry store, or rather the contents of this store, have a weakening effect on me. And just guess what is expected here any day . . . a complete new line of Tifari jewelry . . . necklaces, earrings, bracelets, pearls, etc. Need I say more? Just stop in soon and take a look.

Pastels and colorful shades will be the latest thing in women's billfolds this spring according to Mrs. Flaherty. Princess Gardner has a new yellow wallet that is so attractive, and I hear that the embossed flowered wallets are favorites among the younger set. My 13-year-old friend tells me they're "yummy" above Johnny Ray's latest quiet recording. These wallets come in a variety of colors, leathers and prices . . . $2 to $12. The genuine saddle leather really wears well.

Oh, and don't forget . . . Jewelry sets are still on sale at half-price at Flaherty's. Mother has received loads of compliments on hers.

Stamp collectors, both beginners and veterans, will feel right at home at Sauerland's Hobby Shop, where a complete line for collectors has recently been added. The assortment of stamps and all necessary equipment rated a complete new cabinet.

Handsome albums are priced from 50c, and stamps from 10c a package. Watermarks detector trays, tongs, magnifying glasses and even a handy little carrying case for stamps you might want to trade—these are all available. A complete coin collector's book is another feature of this new addition.

Historical, anniversary — all kinds of stamps are in stock now. Those of you who have youngsters just starting out in this fascinating hobby will love the outfit for beginners priced at just $1.25 . . . It is complete with all equipment, album, and stamps. And while you're at Sauerland's on S. State rd., take a look at the lovely oil painting done by using the picture craft set, unique set for beginning artists that has the oils and their respective places on the canvass numbered. $2.95.

The tantilizing, tangy odor of good food greeted me as I entered Cor-Del's Inn where food is always delicious and appetizing. Their Sunday turkey dinners with all the trimmings will entice every member of the family.

Anyone hankerin' for an extra-specially good seafood dinner or fish fry? A Friday night specialty at Cor-Del's is a fish fry for 75c. Dad acquired his taste for seafood after he moved here from New York, but mother has always been a true fish-loving easterner. They'll vouch for the seashore dinner featuring perch, oysters, shrimp and scallops. With Lent starting February 27, you'll want to take the family to Cor-Del's for a treat in seafood.

Call 1489 for reservations if you're planning a party. They also serve private luncheons to groups of 12 and over and can accommodate parties. The Inn opens at four in the afternoon, but they take parties earlier in the day. They're closed all day Tuesdays . . . Cor-Del's, 800 Northwest hwy.

Continued low prices are being featured at Arlington Certified Food Mart, where friendliness and good buys go hand-in-hand.

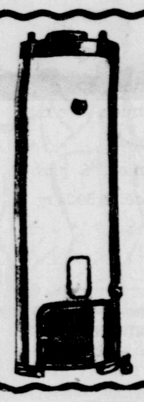

While moseying around the store I found one of my long-time favorites—Lady Fingers. Seems they're getting scarce, but now I know where to go. Lady Fingers and a glass of cold milk have always been a favorite of mine and as soon as I finish this I'm heading for the kitchen. The Food Mart carries a variety of Mrs. Wagner's pastries, among them Angel Food Cake.

A special this week is Pillsbury Pancake Mix, which was advertised in Life magazine. If you purchase either the large or small sizes, you get a free measuring spoon set . . . really a handy gadget.

Another big sale is coming up . . . The Arlington Supply Store at Davis and State rd. will begin its annual February "Big Niner" sale Thursday, February 21. The sale, which continues through Saturday, March 1, will feature such timely stock-up values as Bon Ton toilet tissue, 10 for 79 cents, and roller skates, a $2.95 value for $2.79.

Plan to visit this store and take advantage of the big savings on the numerous items reduced for this sale. See the special ad in this paper and the Sale Circular mailed to every Arlington home this week.

LETTERS of Judge Banks

To my neighbors:

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

"To be prepared for War is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

These words from the lips of the Father of our Country are as applicable today as they were in the 18th century. We must be prepared in order to maintain even a semblance of peace.

"In a free and republican government, you can not restrain the voice of the multitude."

What a wonderful privilege of a free people, the right to speak! Where else in the world can one find a nation wherein each person has the right to express his opinions without the fear of endangering himself, family and friends. THANK GOD! WE LIVE IN AMERICA.

CHILDHOOD'S GREATEST ENEMY, rheumatic fever, is being treated with an injection of ACTH. Police chief warns motorists of icy conditions

Chief of Police Carl H. Skoog of Arlington Heights slid across the sidewalk and gingerly climbed the steps of the police building with a baleful look behind him at the ice-covered pavement.

"Ice is the most treacherous surface over which any motorist ever is called upon to drive," he said.

Then he sat down at his desk and issued an urgent appeal to all motorists to leave their cars at home if it is humanly possible, until driving conditions improve.

"IF YOU ABSOLUTELY must drive," he said, "remember you're not driving on concrete; you're driving on ice. Anybody who tries to drive without tire chains on streets like these is ignoring the facts of life.

"Tests conducted by the National Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards show that an automobile traveling 20 miles an hour on ice with "winterized" tires will skid an average of 188 feet after the brakes are applied. With reinforced-type tire chains on the rear wheels, a car traveling at the same speed can stop in about 77 feet. That extra hundred feet may save your life or that of someone else."

AS AN ADDED safety measure, Chief Skoog urged motorists to keep more than the usual safe distance between vehicles, to use extra care at corners and intersections, and to signal for stops and turns in ample time to protect the car behind.

"I have a hunch there will be fewer accidents on ice or snow covered streets this winter," he said, "for two reasons:

"Car owners will hate to see their fenders and grills banged up. Replacement parts are hard to get.

"Car prices for 1952 models are up, production is limited and all smart people are becoming safety conscious."

Way Back When

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money." — H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

Palatine physician, on his 72nd birthday, recalls the 'horse and buggy days' in the early 1900's

Dr. C. A. Starck, Palatine, was 72 years old Feb. 12. He has practiced in his home community 48 years.

Modern transportation, modern medicine and the hospital facilities of today have made his life a lot easier than it was in the early 1900's when he first hung out his shingle in the Batterman brick block that stood on the present vacant triangle.

A reporter found the story of those early days very interesting, but also found that the doctor was reticent about speaking about the days when he did odd jobs, cut lawns, took care of horses belonging to a practicing physician and performed other work in order to save money towards his medical education.

THIS REPORTER attended the Palatine high school the same time that C. A. Starck was a student and knew a little about the background of this son of a Long Grove minister who rode a bicycle 14 miles daily in order to attend the Palatine high school, the only one between Jefferson Park and Woodstock in 1900 when he graduated.

Dr. Starck was the son of the late Rev. Charles A. S. Starck who had charge of the Long Grove Evangelical church from 1884 until his death. The doctor was born at Peotone, Ill.

The young man attended the Long Grove district school through its seven grades. He then entered the 8th grade at Palatine and finished high school in 1900. During those school years he became acquainted with the late Dr. Muffet who resided at that time in Wheeling.

CARL WELCOMED the employment offered by the eccentric doctor of the old school who was recognized as one of the most capable surgeons and medical men in these parts.

As he drove the doctor around on his calls about the country he was frequently called upon to assist at operations, perhaps performed on a kitchen table — either holding the light or administering the anaesthetic. The operation completed or the mother of a new baby brought into the world, resting quietly, it was Carl's job to drive the team back home while the doctor frequently slept.

Dr. Starck does not recall exactly when he decided to be a doctor, but by the time he had finished high school he was determined to follow that profession.

IN THE FALL of 1900 he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the University of Illinois. By traveling back and forth between Palatine and the school he did not have many worries about getting enough to eat. The school tuition was the biggest obstacle that had to be overcome.

His work in school gained the attention of the late Dr. T. A. Davis who had Carl appointed as the school librarian. He left Palatine at 6 a. m. in order to open the library at 8:00. He was able to return home at 5:30 and then came the burning of the midnight oil.

His association with Dr. Muffet, who resided in the same house, broadened his experience, but in 1902 when Starck was half way through medical school, the doctor died.

THE YOUNG medical student graduated in May 1904. The following year he practiced with a Dr. Clausius, a retired army physician who thought that his young assistant should do all the hard work but that the fees belonged to him.

The young doctor had worked too hard to secure his education to continue such an arrangement and he opened his own office in the Bruhns building which was located on Slade st., opposite the present post office.

With the construction of the Palatine Masonic hall the Palatine Athletic club left its quarters on the upper floor of the Mosser drug store (on present site of DePue building). Dr. Starck rented the vacated rooms.

THE DOCTOR and a dentist had the joint use of a waiting room which always seemed to be full during office hours. The doctor was handicapped for space. When he had the opportunity to purchase the Kunze building at the southeast corner of Slade and Brockway st. he had visions of a small hospital.

"I had been delivering babies in the homes of so many families that I found I had no time to eat or to even sleep at times. I decided I would provide a place where expectant mothers could have their children in a more proper place than the farm home," Dr. Starck told the reporter.

His definite decision was made one stormy night when he was called to the Henry Fasse home in Schaumburg township. His cutter tipped over twice on the way there. He had to cross fields in order to get through. He arrived in time to welcome the new born baby but he had to remain all night because of the storm.

At first the doctor had only one small room in which was placed a bed for emergency cases. The demand for beds became so great that in 1919 a two-story addition was added to the building that Starck had purchased in 1916.

OPENING OF Palatine hospital was a gala event in Palatine although it did not receive the recognition from other doctors that Dr. Starck had expected. As auto accident cases increased in this area the importance of the institution increased. However, the shortage of nurses brought about its closing in the fall of 1950. A year later the Northwestern hospital at Des Plaines also closed for the same reason.

Transportation used by the doctor was horse and carriage during the summers until 1908 when he purchased a model R Ford. When that primeval car was replaced with a model T a year later, Dr. Starck and his "jack of all trades," Glen Gallop, were as pleased as if it was a Packard.

Autos in those years were "wrapped in moth balls" as soon as cold weather arrived. Horses were still a necessity. It was in 1914 that Glenn came to the doctor, first as coachman, caring for his horses etc.

When the hospital came into being Glenn trained himself to become an X-ray technician and was as indispensable around the hospital as a physician's stethoscope. He is still the handy man around the building and ready for emergency call from the doctor with whom he has been identified for 38 years.

PROFESSIONAL medical ethics as outlined by the Chicago Medical society bars the publication of medical success of a physician.

The son of a German, who could talk fluently in that language, the young doctor soon gained the confidence of the so-called German families. He became the local doctor of such communities as Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Schaumburg, Elk Grove and rural parts of Wheeling township.

Dr. Starck gained his early experience as a surgeon under Dr. Davis at the old West side hospital, Chicago. For a time he acted as first assistant to Davis and later began operating "upon his own" which has continued down through the years. He is on the staff at both Sherman and St. Joseph hospitals, Elgin.

The doctor is also a member of American Medical Association, Illinois State Medical Society and the Chicago Medical Society. He is the local surgeon for Chicago North Western Railway Co. The number of babies he has delivered during his 48 years of practice total 4,189.

Dr. Starck is married and is the father of two sons and two daughters.

His older son, Carl D. Starck, graduated from Chicago Medical college in 1936 and after serving in World War II is now practicing independent of his Dad, but in adjoining offices. The second son is Tommy, 22, who is in the armed forces, stationed at San Diego.

The two daughters are Betty and Ann.

TALES of the STREET

—T. C. HART

STOVE STORY

Some time ago the board of education of school district 15 acquired a couple of stoves from the surplus commodity corporation of the government. The stoves are no longer needed so the board wanted to dispose of them. It seems that when you get some of these surplus goods from the government, you have to have the consent of the government to sell them when you no longer have any use for them.

After some voluminous correspondence, the government told the school that it could dispose of those stoves but they had to advertise for sealed bids and get reputable bidders; that the government should receive $25 for the stoves, and that the school could keep the balance.

The school advertised the stoves for sale, the ad cost $7.50 and one bid was received for the stoves—a bid of $5.00. Now the board wonders "What's the next move?"

Some food warmers were recently received from the surplus commodity outfit, but they were so rusted and in poor shape that they cannot be used and the board is withholding payment for them.

After those sort of experiences, one of the board remarked "Do we want government aid to education?"

Opponents to the government aid to education idea are of the opinion that government aid would mean government control and dictation. The only way to keep the schools free with any government aid to education would be for the government to make an outright grant to the schools and let the school boards take it from there, but such a system would never satisfy the socialistic planners and the power hungry bureaucrats who use any government "handouts" as an excuse for more and greater controls of those who receive the handouts.

OPEN WINTER

January and thus far in February have shown temperatures a good deal above normal, in fact it's really been an open winter almost since the advent of winter on December 21. So maybe those squirrels, corn husks, etc., were not so far wrong after all.

What they didn't foresee was that terrific late fall weather that shut down on us around the first of November and lasted until the real winter began.

As far as the official winter is concerned it could be pretty well classed as "open," but the less said about that late fall stuff the better.

7900 MEALS

Times sure change. Way back in the old days all the school kids went home for dinner except when an exceptionally cold or stormy day came along. On such an occasion some of the youngsters would take their lunch and this eating at the school house was quite an event.

What happens now in the modern era of consolidated schools, bus transportation and school cafeterias? During January the lunch room at the consolidated school served 7900 meals. In the operation of the cafeteria a small profit was made last month; the lunch program is supposed to about pay for itself which it does over a period of time.

Sometimes the school cafeterias will show a slight profit and at others a slight loss, but in the long run they are about an even break which is as it is supposed to be.

SEASONAL SIGNS

Official spring is only a month away and already several advance signs of the season are making their appearance. A meadow lark has been heard serenading the folks out Inverness way in the early morning, youngsters are getting busy skipping rope and romping around on roller skates, and about the only early season signs that have been missing are youngsters playing marbles.

In the old days as soon as the snow was off the ground and a few sunny days came along you would see the youngsters starting a game of marbles on every dry spot.

Is playing marbles a lost art with the kids of the present, and if so, what has taken the place of that once popular spring game?

DOGS

Now that the combined dog house and tool shed has been completed at the disposal plant, it's up to the village board to take action right quick about getting a dog catcher to start filling up the doghouse.

Dogs are running rampant all over town jumping on people and school children and in a short time they will be doing a lot of damage to shrubs and gardens. Come on boys, you've got the doghouse, now get the dog catcher.

TROUBLES

We clip the following letter from a recent issue of the Albion, (Ill.) Journal Register. It is self explanatory.

Editor, Journal-Register,

In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to Federal Laws, State Laws, County Laws, Corporation Laws, Liquor Laws, Mother-in-Laws, Sister-in-law and Out-laws.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, furniture tax and excise tax.

I am required to get a marriage license, car license, operator's license, truck license, not to mention marriage license and dog license.

I am required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, the unemployed relief, and the gold diggers' relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution, the Salvation Army, Community Chest, Red Cross, Purple Cross, Double Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Y.M.C.A., and Y.W.C.A., as well as way stations for Wayward Girls and Boys Ranch and Boys Town.

For my own safety I am required to carry health insurance, life insurance, fire insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglary insurance, accident insurance, tornado insurance, earthquake insurance and old age insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, dejected, examined, reexamined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled, until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, tied down and robbed, until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that happened I could not enclose this check. The wolf that comes to many doors nowadays just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Yours very truly,
Johannes Eisenberry.

Arlington rents

I am writing the Fence Post on a subject that I believe is of vital interest to a good many people of Arlington Heights and that is rent control, as I understand the controls were removed with a chance that they would be reinstated if the rents go hog-wild and I believe that is just what has happened.

I hear that some rents have gone up over one hundred per cent in the past six months and on some people that is a real hardship. I would like to see just what has happened to other people's rent and if their rent is out of line. I believe that pressure should be put on the right people so that controls will be reinstated.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George F. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

More than three hundred thirty-nine million dollars ($339,000,000.00) was appropriated by the last general assembly to pay employees of the state government during the two years ending June 30, 1953. There were 43,917 employees paid out of state money last December, according to the state auditor, and this total is not all-inclusive either.

This is big business. But it isn't administered on a business-like basis. This is apparent just from an analysis of how these employees got their jobs.

Passage of the civil service law in 1905, almost 50 years ago, did not then and has not since eliminated the "spoils system" from state government employment. Approximately 9,500 employees of the State are not now subject to civil service or one of the other merit systems.

Most of the employees of the division of highways in the department of public works and buildings are exempt from civil service. Employees of the division of oil and gas conservation of the department of mines and minerals are for some reason exempt. A number of state commissions and boards are exempt. Employees of the auditor, attorney general, secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction, state treasurer, and clerk of the supreme court are exempt. These exemptions make about as much sense as the action of the last general assembly on a bill to require state-owned motor vehicles to have clearly visible identification on the front doors. The bill was amended to apply only to vehicles of the departments under the governor.

Of the 22,000 subject to the civil service commission, approximately 8,000 are provisional appointees — persons appointed without examination because of the absence of an eligible list or unwillingness of the eligibles to take jobs because of location or some other reason. How do these employees become "provisional" appointees? This is another wide open door for the "spoils system." These provisionals then may become civil service employees if they pass the next examination.

Civil service laws were enacted in a revulsion against the "spoils system." They went to the other extreme, so that hiring and firing are still so bound up in red tape as to be virtually unworkable, which leaves the door wide open still to hiring through the spoils system, and then makes it possible to lock the door later to prevent those employees from being fired.

There needs to be a new look taken at the laws and procedures for hiring State employees so that a uniform system can be developed, applicable to all offices, departments and agencies, designed to get the best available employees for available jobs.

Manufacturing

What kind of manufacturing does Roth Manufacturing Company do? What will it employ and whom? Will the workers be technicians or laborers?

Is it the kind of concern, proved by past performance, that will put up an attractive building or will they be sheds? How large a plant will it be?

I don't know what the Roth Manufacturing Company makes. Nor do I know how large a plant they plan to build but may I say how I feel?

When I lived in Arlington Hts. it had small businesses and small manufacturing concerns most of which supplied something to the community.

For the rest it was residential, and a very pleasant place to live it was, too.

So as far as I can see, if a person's preference is for work in an industry, Arlington Heights is close enough to Chicago to allow that person to go there.

And as I remember it, it was wonderful to get out of Chicago on those suffocatingly hot days.

The community in which I now live is largely industrial and it isn't nearly so desirable from a residential standpoint as is Arlington Heights. There is much steel production here and it seems to have made the majority of the people apathetic.

Just for example, the Fence Post has many contributors, but the equivalent of the Fence Post in the local paper has perhaps three articles a week—sometimes not that—and this community is several times larger, too (56,000 population.)

The writer would not presume to say whether or not Roth should move to Arlington Hts., but I do know that large industry has made this section sluggish. Sometimes it seems to me that the steel mill smoke has entered the minds as well as the lungs of the whole valley.

Keep it well planned

A fundamental problem which has not been stated in discussion of annexation of land for the Roth Manufacturing Co. is the fear of many citizens that they will not be able to control their local government. It is this fear which lies beneath protests that the Roth Co. annexation will lower property values, encourage low cost housing, and attract detrimental industries to the area.

If the citizens had full confidence that local government would always be in the hands of intelligent, honest officials, responsive to the wishes and best interests of the whole community, they would examine carefully and calmly any proposed zoning change and its possible effect on planning of the community development. There would be no reason to fear changes in the code permiting undesirable housing, commercial or industrial construction. When the citizens of Arlington Heights or any other community lose control of their local government they will find changes taking place far worse than lowered specifications in a building code. Witness the City of Chicago today.

The question of this particular annexation for Roth Manufacturing Co. must be examined without any hysterical thinking about what the politicians or "sinister" real estate or industrial interests wil do to our town once we let in a fair sized manufacturer. We must always control the planning of our community development, legislation and enforcement of laws.

Location of industries in the suburbs of large cities is an established fact. It is highly desirable for some industries for many reasons of good management. If we decide this time to exclude industry we will face the same problem over and over again in the future as other industries select possible sites in our area.

Industrial plants today can be clean, smokeless and odorless, with pleasing architecture and beautifully landscaped grounds. Such plants don't have to be consigned as orphans of society to a no man's land to stink and smoke by themselves. A very potent reason for clean and beautiful plans is to attract good employees, and the industrial worker deserves this attention to his welfare.

An industrial plant in a well planned community development where adequate public services and private parking lots can be provided may be an asset by providing jobs for some of our many industrial workers who now commute to Chicago, by carrying its share of the tax burden and by making Arlington Heights an example of how wealth producing work can go on under ideal conditions in a City of Good Neighbors.

Red Cross

This year the annual March Fund Campaign of the American Red Cross has assumed especially critical proportions. Not only must the Red Cross collect tremendous quantities of blood for use by our wounded in Korea and for other uses by the armed forces throughout the country, but the Red Cross in March must collect almost $4,000,000 from the residents of the greater Chicago area to continue other vital year-round Red Cross services.

In these times the work of the Red Cross is particularly vital. In the recent Kansas-Missouri floods your Red Cross spent more than $13,600,000 relieving the suffering and hardship of almost 25,000 families. The Red Cross, as you know, is always ready to bring help in time of need to anyone, everywhere.

May be right

A lady expresses her opinions under the heading, "What Happened to God?" Perhaps the title should have been "What Is the Present Attitude of Those in High Places About Deity?"

Seems times have changed, according to the writer. She apparently regrets the present attitude or lack of it by the higher-uppers in government when speechifying.

One Abraham Lincoln, who as I understand, professed no particular religious faith, said—In this task without God's help we cannot succeed—with it we cannot fail . . . (or words to that effect).

The lady should take comfort in the fact that this is a free country and one may worship as one pleases—and when it comes to the existence of a Supreme Being or Creator—well, 56 million church members in America may not be wrong.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

Several days ago my friend Kathleen and I made one of our favorite trips—to the Art Institute to see the Ce'zanne exhibit. I do wish you could have been with us, we enjoyed it so, and I know you would have too. Fortunately, we arrived at the gallery just as the lecture about Ce'zanne was beginning, and I certainly felt, by the time it was over, that my meager knowledge of this great artist had been added to considerably. Ce'zanne became, for me, a person rather than just a name and his paintings the expressions of the various phases of his not too happy life.

Ce'zanne's father was a fine and wealthy banker, and desired his son to follow this profession. However, Paul was not fitted for this and refused to follow his father's wishes. After much persuasion, Paul's father allowed him to go to Paris to study art—agreeing to supply him with one hundred and fifty francs each month (just enough money for Paul to manage to starve on!).

C'ZANNE'S childhood friend, Emile Zola, was there too, and what Zola was doing in the literary field Ce'zanne began to do in the field of art—the weird, unexpected, and fantastic. The group of paintings representative of this phase of his life seem to me to be dark, ominous, and heavy. The figure in "Bather and Rocks" is unnaturally muscular, and the two in "Paul Alexis Reading to Zola" seem to be dark, large bearded bulks seated on chairs.

It was difficult for me to move away from "The Murder." The action depicted in this painting—the upraised arm with knife in hand of the murderer—the look of anguish in the face of the victim—the strong arms of the third person holding the victim—is so violent that I felt strangely terrified just looking at it.

LATER CE'ZANNE became influenced by the Impressionists especially Pissaro. He learned from them the use of light, delicate colors to create atmosphere, or an "impression." It made little difference whether the houses or trees had the proper perspective or whether they were even in focus, as long as the colors created a sense of sunny warmth or cool, refreshing peace. Among this group I was particularly attracted to "Valley of the Oise." The painting is predominantly of trees, done in varying shades of delicate, air green. And yet, simply by the brush strokes and shades of green used, one can feel that it is a bright and cloudless day, and that beyond the refreshing shade of the trees is the heat of a summer sun.

Yet Ce'zanne could not "find himself" in the pure form of Impressionism. He needed more solidity in the form he was painting—more structure and depth. So, becoming discouraged with all the unfavorable criticism of his work which he was receiving in Paris (except for a few close assoicates he was a very unpopular person as well), he went to the south of France. It was here that his style took on a classic aspect. Among this group of paintings "Still Life: Jug and Fruit" and "Pitcher and Fruit" are representative of his desire for permanence and solidity. Form became more natural and detailed. It took him hours and sometimes days to arrange the fruit and folds of a table cloth in a still life. Yet each fold of the cloth and each piece of fruit is related and necessary to the study as a whole.

MY FAVORITE canvas, painted during this era, is "L'Estaque," a town on the gulf of the Mediterranean. Ce'zanne's Impressionism influence is present in the feeling of a warm summer day and the sense of peace in the deep blue color of the sea and the lighter shade of the sky. Also monumentality and permanence are felt through the form of the houses, the shoreline, and the distant mountains.

In his last phase Ce'zanne seemed to find the true expression of his own individual style. His color became brilliant and intense, his form seemed to return to his early "massive" period, and the action of his work recalled the turbulence of his youth. "The Bathers," on which he worked for seven years, is a tremendous canvas depicting several heavy nudes. His "Still Life: Oranges and Apples" is violent in its coolring, yet retains order in its form. Most striking to me, in this last group of paintings, is "Mont Sainte Victoire." There are several pictures of this subject which Ce'zanne did during his earlier years, but this last one, through its color and sharp brush strokes, truly reveals the rugged strength of the mountain.

Realy, Peg, this is such an interesting and stirring exhibition that I surely hope you will have the opportunity to see it!

My love,
Patty.

Weekly recipe

Like all of us, you probably look for new and exciting recipes every time you read a newspaper or magazine. How about potato chowder? It is a combination of potatoes, onion, celery, milk, salt, pepper, and paprika. Butter is added for extra flavor and richness. I use great quantities of butter because I have found nothing to compare with the flavor it imparts and in this week's recipe I am sure you will see what I mean.

Potato Chowder

8 medium potatoes, diced
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup celery, chopped
¼ cup butter
1 quart milk, scalded
3 tsp. salt
Pepper and paprika

Method: Saute onion and celery in butter. Do not brown. Cover potatoes with cold water; add salt and cover. Simmer until tender (about 10 minutes). Add celery and onion and butter mixture; add scalded milk. Serve hot.

Yield: 6 or 7 servings.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Love is a very wonderful thing, and all you have to do is turn on your radio and listen to the love songs about following some gal or man to Arizona, or having your heart torn by some Zeesebell who has thrown you over for some one else, or maybe your heart crying or even dying for some one, to see that it is.

Boys are chasing girls, and girls are chasing boys all over the country, some of them old boys and girls who should know better. It is a perfectly wonderful thing for a young boy to chase a young girl, or vice versa, but it is quite another thing for some old duck to chase his secretary 15 or 20 years younger and give up a well established home and his own children to do it, but it happens every day.

Women practice being alluring and seductive from the time they begin sucking their toes, and by the time they are eight or nine are already flirting in a crude and inexperienced manner with every lad they see, and boys start their natural predatory tactics long before they have lost their baby teeth. At 15 most of the youngsters have passed the amateur love making stage, and are becoming professionals, although still amusingly crude and obvious about it.

Of course, this sort of love is necessary to the establishment of homes and the rearing of progeny for the continuance of the human race, but I am greatly amazed that people do not more readily recognize that it is not the most necessary and wonderful kind of love, and that nowhere in the New Testament does the Bible say it is. In fact, Jesus, who besides being the Son of God is a very wise and knowing individual, says the law of life should be to "love thy neighbor as thyself," and in these words has given the real key to physical salvation for the world.

Instead of loving our neighbors as ourselves, however, we entertain jealousy, envy, and get a secret satisfaction out of seeing them getting into all sorts of amusing predicaments. In almost every neighborhood there is some disgruntled, unhappy individual who gives vent to his inner feelings or inferiority and self pity by raising cain with his neighbors. There is a great deal of this in most of us, but in some people it is pathetic. Their whole life centers about knowing everybody's business, ignoring their good traits, and concentrating on their weaknesses. And often their criticism is based only on a figment of their imagination.

A loving heart is one which takes great joy in doing for others, is considerate, understanding and forgiving, and that kind of person is very rare indeed, standing out like a beacon light on a hill, a source of happiness for all mankind. The salvation of our world today is based upon just that kind of love between nations. But it must first be born in the hearts of individuals like you and me.

Auto licenses at all-time record rate

Illinois motorists are purchasing passenger car license plates at the fastest rate in history, Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett's office announced.

According to C. R. Hodgman, Assistant Secretary of State, more than 1,600,000 passenger license plates had been issued by midnight of Feb. 13. This represents an increase of approximately 25% over the same day in 1951.

The newest thing in hand tools is a screwdriver with a magnetized shank, and storage place in the handle for three interchangeable bits. The manufacturer says the magnetized shank holds the bit in place, at the same time magnetizing it to pick up and hold a screw in place for driving . . . Bottled gas is the working agent in a new fire alarm. According to the maker, when the temperature reaches 130 degrees Fahrenheit, the gas blows through the whistle alarm . . . Mushroom shape replaces the egg shape in the latest version of the traditional darning aid. A spring slips over the material to hold it in place. Biggest advantage is said to be the larger working area.

Cyclical trends tell meat you will eat in '52

The amount of meat you will eat in 1952 depends largely upon cylical trends in the production of live stock, advises H. M. Conway, veteran market analyst, in the February issue of National Live Stock Producer, the nation's leading live stock journal.

Basically, the cylical variations in the live stock industry swing from one extreme to the other — like the pendulum of a clock. The beef cattle cycle covers 14 to 16 years, the sheep and lamb cycle 8 to 10 years and the hog cycle from 3½ to 4½ years. Sometimes these cycles are distorted by drouths or periods of price inflation or deflation and changes in demand. The production of corn has a vital effect upon hog production.

FOLLOWING three years of definite cyclical increase, the hog industry is now rounding the peak of its production cycle, Mr. Conway points out. The spring pig crop may be down an estimated 9% to 56.5 million head and the fall crop down 2% to about 40.2 million head. For the current year, the curtailment in hog numbers is sufficient enough to wipe out the increase during the past three years. The first real evidence of a pork shortage will come in the summer season with a greatly reduced number of packing sows.

For the past three years there has been a significant increase in the number of beef cattle—an estimated 91 million head on farms and ranches as of January 1, 1952. There has been a tendency to replace breeding stock following the short period of liquidation at the end of World War II. Expansion has been general in the corn belt and in Southern states.

ORDINARILY, the beef production cycle lags about three years behind cattle numbers. On this basis, it would be logical to expect an increase in beef supplies for 1952. But with price ceilings and higher feed costs, beef production is being maintained largely on a growing basis rather than increases in the feedlot. This will delay much of the cattle slaughter into the fall season this year and much of the marketing of cattle into next year.

Despite the increase in sheep and lamb numbers during the past two years, production is far below normal. Liquidation had continued for about eight years with the result that sheep numbers reached a record low. With flock expansion now, marketings lag behind production. Therefore, it will be another year before we can expect a marked increase in the supplies of lamb for consumption and wool for military use.

Farmers Raise Food Production By 10 Percent in Last 10 Years

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

The answer to this seemingly impossible situation is in one word—mechanization. That means tractors, combines, corn pickers and other machines in the fields . . . milkers, feed grinders, welders and a host of other electrical helpers around the farmstead.

The work of devising new ways of easing the farmers' burdens; developing new equipment to speed up farming operations, improve farm produce and reduce production costs is a continuing one. This is the job of agricultural colleges, experiment stations, manufacturers and power suppliers. The wonders they have performed to date would confound the genius of a Cyrus McCormick or a John Deere.

NO LIFTING HERE—grain goes up and into crib automatically by elevator.

Since electricity became available to millions of farms, agricultural engineers have taken the reins off their imaginations and put their dreams to work in all types of farming. In the fascinating field of farm electrification research, here are a few of the newest activities which show promise of success:—

Di-electric heat to condition grains and forage; increasing the effectiveness of sprays by placing electrical charges on plants as well as in sprays at the time of application; automatic livestock feeding assembly which draws grain and mill feels from cribs and bins to be ground, mixed and conveyed in correct proportions to each manger; development of automatic electronic egg grader, and the study of electric lamps and traps to attract and kill such pests as the corn borer, and tobacco and tomato horn worm.

Invisible radiation, radio frequency, magnetism, micro-currents and ultrasonics also are being tried in various ways to help the farmer cure, preserve and, in general, put a better product on the market in an easier, more certain, and less costly fashion.

Off the drawing boards and into use in recent years have come electrically operated silo unloaders, bee hive heaters, crop driers, cow-to-cooler milking equipment, infra-red brooders and automatic poultry feeders.

The farm may never become a push-button operation. And the farmer may never be able to direct his machines from a radar control booth in his barn. But those who have seen the progress made in mechanization of farm work in recent years won't say it can't happen. Improbable is the word they use—not impossible. We'll just have to wait until a few more dreams come true, and until farmers catch up with the passing parade of new mechanical equipment already devised for their various choring needs.

Looks for lower grain prices

This Canadian competition is coupled with the fact that the United States has sold a large part of the quota of wheat under the International Wheat Agreement. This is "bargain" wheat. On each bushel this government pays a subsidy of about 60 to 65 cents a bushel, which reduces the price to the foreign buyer.

Norton says that while it is true that two other wheat exporters, Australia and Argentina, are short of wheat and that non-European countries are taking more wheat than they formerly did, these conditions are well known and "have long been discounted into the price."

THE CORN supply picture stacks up something like this:

The 1951 crop appears to have been well below the likely use of corn during the 1951-52 crop year. And much of the crop was of low quality because of the early frosts in parts of the oCrn Belt. For these reasons, many people think the market for good corn will work higher during the season.

Balancing this outlook, however, is the fact that the corn supply situation has been well known for some time and probably has been fully discounted in the market price picture. There also will be some reduction in livestock and poultry feeding this year. And it is likely that the government will be under pressure to move more of its CCC-held corn into active supply channels.

With both sides of the picture in mind, Norton says that he believes we have seen about the peak of the corn market and that prices are more likely to ease off than go higher.

Advance planning and ordering for windbreak pays

If you're planning to put in a windbreak this spring, you'll save time and money if you first map out the exact location of the trees and figure the number you'll need. Then order the trees well in advance of planting time so that you'll get the ones you want.

W. F. Bulkley, extension forester at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says the best location for a windbreak is on the north and west sides of your farmstead; and the best time for planting extends from the last week in March to the first week in May.

If the job looks too big to complete this spring, spread it out over two years. The comfort and protection an established windbreak will give your farmstead wil more than make up for the work and expense involved in starting it.

For extra help in planning a windbreak, ask your farm adviser for Circular 38, "Windbreaks for Illinois Farmsteads." He'll also have a copy of a booklet, "Trees for Windbreak Planting, Spring, 1952," which lists the trees available from Illinois nurseries.

And if you get a chance, visit a well-established windbreak. Your farm adviser will know the location of some in your county.

Explain rules of new egg-grading law for chicks

Illinois poultrymen do not have to candle and grade their own eggs before selling them, and they do not need a license of any kind, according to the new egg-grading law.

E. E. Broadbent, egg marketing specialist at the Illinois college of agriculture, says the law, which went into effect in Illinois December 5, has raised many questions among poultry raisers. To clear up any misunderstanding, here are four main provisions of the law:

ALL EGGS sold at retail or wholesale must be candled. Farmers selling direct to consumers or storekeepers do not have to candle their eggs.

All eggs sold at retail must be labeled to show grade (quality) and size (weight), or they must be labeled "ungraded."

For most purposes, five grades of eggs will be sold: A extra large, A large, A medium, B large and ungraded eggs.

Dealers will be licensed, but farmers need no license.

Broadbent explains that the law requires that tradespeople do the candling. They do not have to grade the eggs; but if they don't, the eggs must be labeled "ungraded" when sold at retail.

FARMERS do not have to pay the $1.00 retail distributor's fee if they sell only their own eggs from their own flocks to their own retail customers.

Many retailers have stopped buying eggs from farmers on farm-run basis and are buying quality, graded eggs. But Broadbent says this will probably benefit Illinois egg producers in the long run.

Studies of egg-grading operations show that, when farmers sell their eggs by U. S. standards and grades—and stay with it—they get about 6 cents more a dozen. In addition, they improve the quality of their eggs, and they increase the size of their flocks.

Release census figures on farms

U. S. department of commerce has recently released some figures of interest to farmers or to those who are interested in selling goods to the farmer. Uncle Sam required an entire year to collect his figures and the ones given below apply to the year 1950, having been collected during 1951.

The figures are supposedly supplied by the local assessors. Cook County farm bureau has over 5,000 members while the census bureau records only 3236 farms in Cook county. This can be partly explained by the fact that often the farm owner and the farm tenant each have memberships, or perhaps the assessor, who is a very busy man, may have missed some of the farms. At least the comparative figures given in the official report are interesting.

HERE THEY ARE:

Farms number 3,236.

The average size of farm is 62.6 acres.

The average value of land and buildings of Cook County farms amounts to $27,509 per farm.

855 farmers reported that other income of the family was greater in 1949 than the value of farm products sold.

14 farms have 500 or more acres.

1,799 of the county's 3,236 farms are fully owned by the operators.

2,485 farms have telephones and 2,962 have electricity.

1,782 farms have motor trucks and 2,349 have tractors.

Cook County farmers spent $4,908,316 in 1949 for hired farm labor.

Farm products sold in 1949 amounted to $24,474,741. Horticultural specialties accounted for $10,581,769 of the total.

Rock granules toughen roof

Most home-owners don't realize it, but little bits of stone, nature's most wear-resistant material, usually are a home's first line of defense against attacking weather.

The roof of a house is the part that takes the greatest beating from rain, snow, sleet, hail, the heat of the sun, and the force of the wind. More houses in the United States are protected by asphalt roofing than by any other material. And asphalt shingles are surfaced with mineral granules, which are small pieces of rock.

Mineral granules are obtained from natural slate, quartz, traprock, and slag. There are four reasons they are incorporated into asphalt shingles:

1. The granules can be colored by ceramic firing. This is the way asphalt shingles are made in their full range of solid and blended hues.
2. They increase the fire-resistance of the roofing.
3. They provide an excellent wearing and weathering surface.
4. Because the granules are opaque, they protect the asphalt from the impact of the sun's rays.

KRILIUM LOOKS GOOD

The very common and difficult problem of what to do with hard, compacted garden soils may in time be solved if a recently announced chemical preparation lives up to expectations.

Krilium is the name of the new material. It is applied to the surface of the soil as a dust. It works its way down through the soil, breaking up its lumpy plastic condition and restoring its lost granular structure. It improves drainage, makes the soil more friable, and increases production. The material was announced at a recent meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Krilium seems to have great promise, but it will not be available for general use in 1952.

Need for signups now for ACP

Carl M. Bormet of the Cook county PMA committee wants every farmer to know he is eligible to cooperate in the 1952 agricultural conservation program. The door is open to all farmers.

Mr. Bormet points out that with population increasing, more and more people are depending on how well farmers take care of the land. Because all the people in the country do depend on the land and how well it is taken care of, Congress provided the Agricultural Conservation program to assist farmers in carrying out conservation practices. Through this program, assistance—both financial and technical—is made available to farmers who participate.

"IN THIS COUNTY," he said, "assistance will be given in carrying out practices such as constructing and establishing sod waterways; pasture establishment or improvement; initial contouring of intertilled crops; contour stripcropping; permanent open farm drainage ditches; tile drainage and outlets; green manure crops; seeding of biennial and perennial legumes or mixtures of these legumes; limestone; mixed fertilizer (superphosphate or potash); and raw rock phosphate." These practices are those which farmers themselves and folks working with them have found are some of the best ways to keep land from washing and blowing away, to build up fertility, and to make the land more productive.

Farmers in Cook county can sign up to participate in the program at the PMA office, Farm Bureau building, Arlington Hts.

Announce 3 new oat varieties and one of wheat

Three new varieties of oats will be available in 1953 in small quantities to a few specialized seed producers to increase supplies.

And Saline wheat, a new high-yielding variety, will be available to farmers generally for fall planting in 1952.

This report was given by plant breeder O. T. Bonnett in the University of Illinois to a Farm and Home week audience. The 4-day session.

LaSalle, one of the three new oat varieties, has been high-yielding in northern Illinois and has some resistance to race 45 of crown rust. It comes from a cross between Marion and Clinton types.

Missouri 205, developed at the Missouri Experiment Station, is high-yielding, has excellent test weight and shows strong resistance to race 45 of crown rust.

THE THIRD variety, as yet unnamed, is a cross between Clinton and Santa Fe varieties. Bonnett explains that Santa Fe is considered a poor variety for Illinois, but it has unusual resistance to race 45 of crown rust. The development program has attempted to combine the good qualities of Clinton variety, which has little resistance to race 45, with the superior resistance of Santa Fe.

As for wheat, the plant breeder says about 1,000 bushels of Saline have been planted by qualified seed producers to increase supplies, and about 20,000 bushels should be available from those growers this summer after harvest. Saline has had an outstanding yield record during 7 years of field tests. It has excellent-quality grain and stiff straw and often yields better than Royal and Vigo, two popular varieties.

Businessmen ask Crystal Lake parking fines remain at 10c

Recommendation of the city license committee that parking meter ticket fines be increased from 10 cents to 25 cents has brought a stern objection from the Crystal Lake chamber of commerce.

The secretary was instructed to write the city council asking the 10 cent fine not be increased as this was was enough for motorists to pay and that the proposed higher fee of 25 cents would cause hard feelings among the motorists and cause many persons to shop elsewhere.

Spring on Clothesline Keeps It Taut

THERE'S nothing so annoying as having to dodge the clothesline in the basement. Here's a simple remedy, illustrated below.

Tie one end of the line to a screen-door spring. Since the spring is not strong enough to carry the weight of a line of clothes, run the end of the line past the spring and tie it to the hook also. Leave sufficient slack so that the weight is taken by the line after the spring stretches about one-quarter of its length.

This arrangement keeps the empty line taut and does not interfere with the line in use.—Illustration reproduced through courtesy of Popular Mechanics.

New apple variety now available

Illinois fruit growers can now get scions of a promising new apple variety, the Crandall, introduced last fall by the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station.

C. J. Birkeland, head of the department of horticulture at the University of Illinois, says that the experiment station will welcome comments and observations from anyone who cares to test the new variety.

The Crandall was selected from 46 seedlings derived from a cross made in 1914 of Rome Beauty and Jonathan. It first fruited in 1925, eight years after planting in the seedling orchard at Urbana.

THE TREE grows vigorously and forms a rather low-spreading tree of the Rome type with crotches which seldom split out. The foliage is less susceptible to apple scab than either Jonathan or Rome Beauty. Blotch and sooty blotch have not been a problem up to this time.

This attractive apple has a ground color of yellow with up to 95 per cent glossy, medium-red over-color. It usually averages as large as or larger than the Jonathan. Its flesh is yellowish-white, fine grained, crisp and juicy. The apple rates very high as dessert or cooked.

IN STORAGE the Crandall develops a heavy wax over the skin which helps to keep it fresh, firm and moist. It hasn't developed any spotting of the skin which is so common with Jonathan and Baldwin.

Probably one of the Crandall's outstanding selling points is that it reaches its best quality in late February or mid-March, after most other varieties are well past their prime.

The new variety was named in honor of the late Charles S. Crandall, who directed the fruit breeding work at the Illinois station for many years.

Lessons In . . . . English

Do not say, "I don't hardly think so." This is a double negative. Say, "I don't think so," or, "I hardly think so."

Do not say, "You must of known it." Say, "You must have known it."

Distinguish between human (pertaining to man) and humane (kind; benevolent).

Do not say, "He put in several weeks on the work." It is much better to say, "He spent several weeks."

Do not say, "There were over fifty men," or, "He had over fifty dollars." Instead, say, "There were more than fifty men," and, "He had more than fifty dollars."

Do not say, "In this trick, I shall use both the black and red cards." This would denote that each card is red and black. Instead, say, "I shall use both the black and the red cards."

Words Often Mispronounced

Dilute. Pronounce the i as in did, not as in die often heard.

Audacious. Pronounce a-da-shus, first a as in all, second a as in day, accent second syllable.

Sobriety; state of being sober; temperance. "A test by the police proved his sobriety."

Dereliction; a failure in duty. "The employer refused to excuse such dereliction."

Close-up view of the principal operating controls and microphone of the Bell & Howell Filmosound 202 16mm optical-magnetic Recording Projector.

Economical magnetic sound-on film for amateur movie makers became a reality with the announcement of a new Bell & Howell 16mm combination optical-magnetic recording projector, the Filmosound 202. It was also announced the company has developed a process called Soundstripe to permanently coat film for magnetic sound.

The new projector is an all-purpose unit. It records and plays back magnetic sound at either 16 or 24 frames per second by means of a stripe of magnetic material on the film edge. As the film is projected, sound is recorded and "stored" on the magnetic stripe, ready for instant playback. Commentary can be erased and re-recorded an unlimited number of times. The unit projects conventional optical sound films as well as silent films. It can also be used as a public address system and a regular magnetic recorder.

The 202, including speaker, is entirely self-contained in a single case unit. A separately cased twelve-inch speaker is also available. To record a magnetic sound track you merely plug in the microphone (which comes as standard equipment), start the projector and describe what you see on the screen. Flip two switches to reverse the projector for instant playback. If you should make an error while recording, reverse the film beyond the point of the error and re-record.

The old track is automatically erased as you proceed with the new recording. Since the 202 also projects a picture while running in reverse, it's easy to spot the exact place on the film where the error occurred. The magnetic erase and record "heads" are within two 16mm frames of each other. With a little practice, a single word can be erased and another put into its place without interfering with the balance of the recording.

There is a phonograph "jack" as well as a microphone "jack" for mixing voice and music.

Ar Orchestra Hall

Rafael Kubelik conducts the concerts of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at Orchestra Hall this week in programs of unusual interest for Chicagoans.

The Tuesday afternoon, February 26, audience will hear Myra Hess in three Mozart Concertos —the F Major (K. 413) which has never been performed at these concerts, the A Major (K. 488) and the C Major (K. 467). Last Thursday and Friday, Dame Hess, who is making her tenth seasonal appearance with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, performed three other Mozart concertos.

The program for the Thursday evening, February 28, and Friday afternoon, February 29, concert pair brings to the forefront two Chicago men of music to whom many audiences are indebted for their contributions through the years — Rudolph Ganz and John Weicher.

MODERN ETIQUETTE

Q. After seating yourself in church and you discover that you are in a draft, is it proper to ask an usher to close one of the windows?

A. This would be thoughtless on your part, as there may be some other persons near you who are enjoying the fresh air. It is much better to change your seat.

Q. When a married woman is traveling alone, should she sign her name on the telephone register as "Martha L. Randolph?"

A. No. She should use her husband's name and sign "Mrs. Robert A. Randolph, Chicago, Ill."

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is there any limit to the number of knives and forks one places at each plate when setting the dinner table?

A. Yes; there should never be any more than three forks and two knives at any one plate. If more silver is needed, it is brought in at the proper time. The dessert spoon and fork are on the dessert plate when it is brought to the table.

Q. Is it all right to abbreviate the date on a business letter, such as 2-11-52?

A. No; the date should be written out, as, February 11, 1952.

Q. Can you suggest some inexpensive gifts that a man may give to a woman friend?

A. The usual gifts are flowers, books, fruits, and candy.

Q. Does the bridegroom wear a different kind of boutonniere than his attendants?

A. Sometimes all the men in the bridal party wear the same kind of boutonniere, the white carnation being the favorite flower. On occasion, the bridegroom will wear a large boutonniere, possibly lilies of the valley or orange blossoms.

Q. How would one word a note of invitation to a luncheon in honor of a house guest?

A. "Dear Martha: Will you lunch with me on Wednesday the tenth at one o'clock to meet my guest, Margaret Wilson? Hoping so much for the pleasure of seeing you, Sincerely."

Q. Where is the proper place to put the napkin when setting the dinner table?

A. It is folded in an oblong and placed to the left of the service plate, or straight upon it.

Q. Should a dinner hostess keep eating as long as her guests do?

A. Yes. A thoughtful hostess will notice which guests are a little slow, and will so manage her "bites" that she will keep eating as long as her slowest guest.

Robert Dammann, Mgr.

Mt. Prospect Welcomes The Picture Of The Half-Century At THE PROSPECT THEATRE
Thurs. Fri. Sat. - Feb. 21-22-23
Also Showing Second Big Feature "Golden Girl" In Technicolor

FEATURE PICTURE OFFERS TRIP DOWN 'MEMORY LANE'

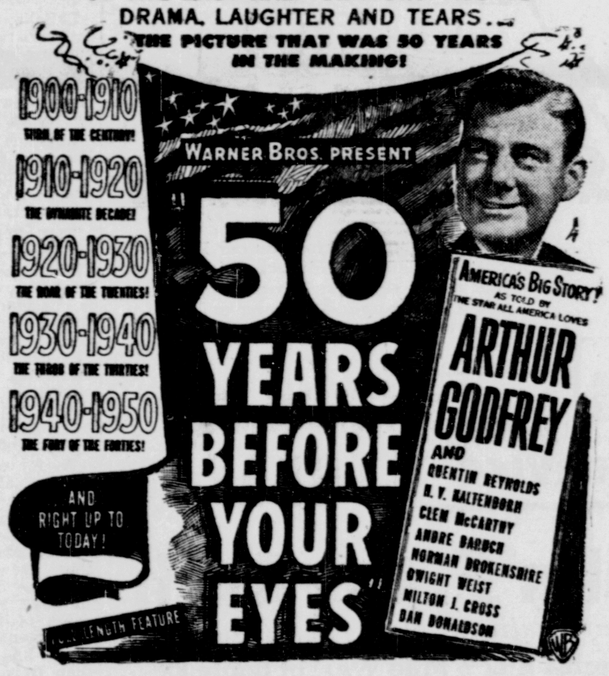

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21, 22, 23, Prospect Theatre presents the most unusual cast ever seen in a movie. Warner Bros.' "50 Years Before Your Eyes," which features Godfrey as the principal narrator, presents the original bathing beauties of the turn of the century, who dared to show an ankle, and the demon auto drivers of the original Keystone Cops, as well as Charlie Chaplin, Ben Turpin, Douglas Fairbanks, Al Jolson, Will Rogers, Rudolph Valentino and many other famous names of the screen, all shown in their moments of great triumph.

Featured with Godfrey in "50 Years Before Your Eyes" are H. V. Kaltenborn (and President Truman's imitation of Kaltenborn), Milton J. Cross and Quentin Reynolds. The picture utilizes the famous commentators to introduce some of the most remarkable footage ever shown on American theatre screens, including a sound picture of Teddy Roosevelt in 1912, the first motion pictures ever taken of Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin and an amazing scene showing a detachment of Japanese naval officers headed by Admiral Nomura parading on the White House lawn. (This scene was taken during a diplomatic ceremony long before World War II).

Among the famous entertainers shown in "50 Years Before Your Eyes" are Lillian Russell, Buffalo Bill, bandleader John Philip Sousa, Mary Pickford, John Barrymore and Enrico Caruso. Billy Sunday, the great evangelist, is on hand to battle sin.

"50 Years Before Your Eyes" is the product of more than three years of intensive work by Warner Bros., including a globe girdling search for rare human interest footage. The first know pictures of Stalin were discovered only after millions of feet of priceless motion pictures had been examined.

ALL THE FAMOUS FACES, PLACES AND EVENTS OF THE LAST HALF-CENTURY! ALL ITS DRAMA, LAUGHTER AND TEARS...
THE PICTURE THAT WAS 50 YEARS IN THE MAKING!

Many of the following merchants and business men have helped through the years to bring Mt. Prospect to its present prominent position. All of them are working for the continued growth and prosperity of the community. They appreciate that a good movie theatre is a community asset, and they are sponsoring this advertisement as a token of goodwill and appreciation toward The Prospect Theatre.

LENT BEGINS FEB. 27

THE DAYS IN which we live are strange days. The abnormal has become the normal. The floodgates of envy and selfishness are wide open and threaten to destroy men. Corruption is eating away at our nation's vitals like a vicious cancer. Men the world over have turned their backs upon God. The result? A fearful harvest of blood and ruin is upon us.

And what of your own life? Do you feel secure while the world is disintegrating? What about your doubts and fears? What does the Christ who died for you, mean to you? Are you certain of your salvation?

The Christ of Calvary is in these coming weeks especially calling upon you to bless you, to give you the firm assurance of sins forgiven, to strengthen your faith, to increase the measure of your peace and hope, to gird you for the fateful days ahead, to give you courage to meet and overcome all trials. A greater faith in Christ will transform your very life, giving you grace to smile even through your tears, grant you faith to sing even in the night of the gloom. What more could one ask for?

We invite you to our Lenten services shown elsewhere in this paper.

Fete college records of past athletes in dedication of new Heights gym

Nine former athletes of Arlington Heights township high school were in the spotlight Friday night as the athletic department dedicated the new gymnasium, a brightly painted, well-ventilated, modern, large structure second to none in the state. Almost 3,000 fans were on hand for the festivities and saw Arlington split with Hinsdale.

Among those athletes were three from the first high school basketball team in Arlington—George Schneberger at center, George Kost at forward, and John Duthorn at forward. Bill Meyer, one of the guards still living in Arlington Heights, was not present for the affair. Other member of the "starting five" from 1909-1910 was Paul Davis, now living in California.

IN DEDICATING the gym to the students, present and future, athletic director Wally Grace called attention to the outstanding college records of some of Arlington's past sports stars. Present and introduced to the crowd were:

George Schneberger, '12, who won three numerals and seven letters at Northwestern university in football, basketball, baseball and track.

Bob O'Hagan, '39, who won three football letters at Marquette, captaining the team his senior year.

Bill Kleiner, '47, all-conference end at DeKalb.

Wally Beckman, '48, football guard at DeKalb two years, this past fall offensive center on the undefeated champs.

Marv Berschet, '48, captain University of Illinois track team and first string defensive left tackle on Big Ten and Rose Bowl champs.

Vernon Rascher, '48, captain University of Illinois golf team.

Lloyd Meyer, '49, Carthage college basketball guard for the third year, and third baseman for the baseball squad.

CONGRATULATORY wires were received from Dick Bokelman, '44, past captain of Northwestern baseball team, now pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals. Bill Wille, '46, captain of Tulsa university basketball five, serving under high school coach Clarence Iba.

Marv and Ron Prellberg, '49 and '51, both on the basketball and golf squads at Ripon, with Marv the number 1 golfer in school.

John Deininger, '50, Bradley sophomore, playing regular at tackle.

Warren Lattof, '51, MIT freshman hurdler running with the best in various meets throughout the east.

George Kovacik, '51, made the football team in his freshman year at Army.

PRESENT FRIDAY for the ceremonies were one of the earliest and the latest basketball coaches, Noble J. Puffer, now superintendent of schools, and Gene Bell, now in the army.

Surprise guest was H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the national federation of state high school athletic associations. Also introduced were M. F. Sprunger of the state association office, president of the board Elmer F. Laurin, and coach Larry Hoff of Hinsdale. Students participating in the festivities included Mike Theis, president of the "A" club and Barbara Arnold, president of the student senate.

PALATINE FANS can best get an idea of the size of the new gym at Heights by comparing it with the present floor at P.T.H.S. The Palatine court could fit within the front lobby of the Heights gym, is 20 feet shorter than the main Heights floor is wide, and could also fit within the space of each balcony section.

Wheeling Hawks in North Shore loop playoffs

An inspired Wheeling Blackhawk basketball team led by Roy Anderson and Rich Sander, overcame a six point deficit at the half to down Conney's Cagers, in a North Shore league game at the Winnetka Community House. Conney's started fast against the Hawks by building up a 11-4 lead over the locals in the first quarter and maintained a 21-15 advantage at the intermission.

At the beginning of the third quarter, the Blackhawks switched to a full-court, man-for-man defense. Confused by the new defense, Conney's repeatedly threw the ball away and by the end of the third period the Blackhawks led 29-28.

PACED BY Rich Sander's seven points in the final segment and great team work, the Hawks went on to defeat the league leaders. The victory put the Hawks in a tie for first place with Conney's, and also puts them in the league play-offs.

The Hawks' scoring attack was paced by Roy Anderson's accuracy from outside the free throw line and Rich Sander's shots from under the basket. Each scored 15 points. Weymouth was high for the losers with 17.

With a season total of 16 wins against 13 setbacks, the Hawks return to the Wheeling gym Friday evening to take on the Eckhardt Gears from Evanston. Game time is 8:00 p. m.

Seton Hall takes 22-1 record to Stadium; De Paul host to Kentuck

A band of Pirates from Seton Hall university may steal the show in the sixth college basketball doubleheader Saturday, February 23, when they meet Loyola of Chicago in the opening game at 8 p. m.

In the second game, Kentucky, currently ranked first in both the AP and UP polls, will face DePaul.

The Seton Hall cagers, under the tutelage of Coach "Honey" Russell, have won 22 games, with only a 55-52 loss to Siena marring their record, and are currently on a seven game winning streak.

The Pirates are paced by 6-foot, 11 inch center Walter Dukes, who is hitting the net at a torrid 24 points per game clip. Dukes will be aided by a starting five that averages almost 6-feet, 5-inches in height.

LOYOLA, which had won 12 games while losing seven prior to tilts with Valparaiso Tuesday and Marquette Thursday, recently upset DePaul and will be shooting for its second win in a row at the Stadium under Coach George Ireland. Loyola is led by sharpshooting forward Nick Kladis, who is averaging 18 points per game.

The Wildcats from Kentucky, who are bidding for their second straight NCAA title and an Olympic berth, have won 22 games while losing two, both early in the season to Minnesota and St. Louis U. Coach Adolph Rupp has sacrificed height for speed this year and his Wildcats are leading the nation in scoring with 86.16 per game.

DEPAUL has won 19 games out of 25 and a victory over Kentucky would almost assure them of a post-season tournament bid. The Blue Demons have won only two games out of 12 from Kentucky and Coach Ray Meyer will be shooting for an upset in the Stadium tussle.

Blue Demons hopes will rest on center Gen Dyker and captain-guard Ron Feiereisel. Feiereisel is leading the team with 346 points in 25 games. The slender DePaul academy graduate is especially deadly from the free throw line, having converted 30 out of 33 in five games at the Stadium, including 23 out of his last 24. He has scored 100 free throws in 128 attempts in all games for a lofty .781 per cent.

DePaul officials announced that there are still plenty of good reserved seats for the game available at the Stadium box office. They added that 4,000 unreserved seats would go on sale at 12 noon the day of the game.

HEIGHTS WRESTLERS IN WAUKEGAN SECTIONAL FRIDAY

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

Another Northwest Conference season has come to a close with the final standings just about what was expected before the teams started playing basketball. We picked Barrington, Grant, and Palatine to finish 1-2-3 and they did. We were right on Northbrook for last but slipped up on some of those in between. We thought that Bensenville and Antioch would do better than they did. Barrington as undefeated double winners played steady and consistently good ball but were not as flashy as the year before. Next year they will be 20 per cent stronger and that should put them up with or above any of the better teams of the area. The only consolation for the other seven teams is that the Bronchos cannot make it five in a row due to their transfer to the North Suburban league.

All events in 'A' and 'B' classes in Palatine Relays

Invitations went out a few weeks ago to about 50 schools announcing the 20th annual Palatine Relays. There are two changes which will continue as policies for well into the future and which will be welcomed by most schools. From this time on all events in the meet will be in separate "A" and "B" classes with five place awards in each. Prior to this year field events were open class with the "A" schools getting most points and medals. Now a team with strong field men in "B" class will have a better chance to win the "B" trophy.

The other change is that of setting the limits of class "B" at 500 enrollment with "A" class the top figure of those schools which have continued to come to the Relays year after year. Niles, Leyden, and Arlington Heights enrollments will thus determine from year to year the top limit.

Many conference records

There were many new conference records this year. Art Smejkal of Grant scored 41 points in a single game against Northbrook. Bob Nolan of Wauconda had 40 and Fred Cochran of Barrington and Paul Schrage of Palatine each had single game tallies of 39. The former record was 33 made twice by Thollander of Bensenville. Bob Nolan of Wauconda scored the most field goals (117), the most free throws (110) and the most total points in a season with 344. The old record of 264 was made by Bob Thollander of Bensenville in 1947.

Barrington scored the most points in a conference season in both divisions. The Broncho varsity got 861 as compared with 799 last year for an average of 61.5 a game. The frosh-sophs tallied 675 as compared with their record 588 of the previous season. Northbrook set a league mark for ineffectiveness of defensive play allowing opponents to score 971 in the varsity division and 637 in the frosh-soph.

All-conference cage teams coming next week

We have asked the eight coaches of the conference to name the best 15 boys in the league in basketball. Next week we shall publish the list in three teams in order of points scored in the coaches' rating. We think the first team this year is one of the strongest ever picked in the Northwest conference from the standpoint of offense. There will be a write-up and pictures of the top selections in next week's issue.

Tom O'Connell, sophomore quarterback for the "Fighting Illini" undefeated Big Ten and Rose Bowl champs.

Coach Torhan's hopes high for state tourney

by BOB PADDOCK

Arlington's wrestling squad opens sectional competition Friday night at Waukegan with Coach George Torhan hopeful of taking at least one of the boys to the state. The latter meet will be held at Proviso high school next week.

The local wrestlers, now in their second year of competition, have won eight of 19 meets this year, including four of twelve varsity events, two frosh-soph meets, and two of five junior-varsity encounters.

The varsity defeated McHenry, Niles twice, and the Waukegan JVs. They lost to McHenry, New Trier, York, Riverside, Elgin, Maine, LaGrange and Hinsdale. The frosh-sophs whipped Elgin and Maine. The JVs lost to Waukegan, Hinsdale and Niles, but beat Riverside and Waukegan.

JUST WHAT makes a varsity, JV or frosh-soph team is hard to determine in wrestling, particularly in a school which has practiced the sport for just two years. In Arlington's case some of the outstanding varsity wrestlers are sophomores and may one day wrestle as varsity, the next as frosh-sophs, and possibly a week later be JVs.

Improvement since last season, the first for the sport at Arlington, makes Coach Torhan hopeful of future competition.

ENTERED at Waukegan, in addition to Arlington, are Elgin, Evanston, Maine, McHenry, New Trier, Niles, Waukegan and Zion-Benton. Preliminaries are slated for 7 p. m. Friday night, semi-finals Saturday afternoon at 2:00, finals Saturday night at 7:30.

Weighing in time Friday is 2-4 p. m. and 11-12 Saturday. Seeding and drawing for matches is set for 4 p. m. Friday. First and second places in ten weights will go to the state. Referees are Bob Hicks of Tilden and Tony Barbaro of Chicago.

BEST CHANCES for Arlington, according to the "experts," are Dave Brant at heavyweight, Norbert Leckband at 138 pounds, Bill Schaeffer at 133, Norb Sargent at 120 and Bob Butler at 154 pounds.

Larry Brumm leads Wheeling with 27 points

Larry Brumm was high scorer for Wheeling last week in its 51-28 conquest of Mt. Prospect with the winner a half game ahead of Mt. Prospect in the "A" division. Wheeling has one game to go. A loss would cause a tie with Mt. Prospect.

Second high scorer for Wheeling in the Mt. Prospect game was Ahnfeldt with 12 scores. Siech of Mt. Prospect led his mates with ten points. In the only other game in "A" division play Mt. Prospect defeated St. Peter.

It was turnabout in the "B" division when Mt. Prospect defeated Wheeling, 37-25. Brownell was tops for Mt. Prospect with 18 points. B. Cokenower was tops for Wheeling with 13. Mt. Prospect defeated St. Peter, 37-7, in the other game of the "B" division.

Irv Hahnfeldt bowls first 300 on Palatine alleys

Irwin Hahnfeldt put himself in a class all by himself Friday night at Hi-Way Recreation as he rolled the first 300 game in history in Palatine, though in open play. Irv, warming up for House league competition, notched 235 and 215 games before reaching the "perfect" score.

The game was the highest bowled in either open or league play at Palatine. Highest league game rolled to date is Bill Kessler's 299 in what is now Parkway league. Bill left the four pin stand after hitting the pocket 11 times in a row on the Dinse alleys in 1944-1945. At that time Bill had a 149 average.

Hahnfeldt, a 187 bowler, rolled 637 in league competition Friday night. His 750 open score didn't count. Proprietor Harvey Helms felt Irv qualified for Red's own 250 club and awarded Irv his $50.

Hahnfeldt, by the way, was top bowler in the recent Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap with a 244 game.

Arlington freshmen trip Barrington, 45-32

Coach Bill Beckman's freshman cagers from Arlington Hts. dealt a 45-32 beating to Barrington Monday afternoon of this week with Wayne Mueller leading the way. Mueller swished the nets for eight baskets and six of seven free throws for 22 points.

Arlington took a 12-8 first period lead, hung on at intermission, 18-14, then stretched the margin to 34-25 going into the home stretch. Mueller had his best quarter in the third when he made eleven points.

High man for Barrington was Cochran, younger brother of Fred, number one boy on the Barrington varsity.

Hebron no respector of Northwest titleholder, whips Barrington, 83-39

The Hebron Green Giants were exactly that, in more ways than one Tuesday night when they forgot Barrington's Bronchos were Northwest conference champs—forgot they were undefeated in league play—forgot they were titlists four years running, and beat the pants off them, 83-39.

With five boys all reaching the double figures, Hebron outscored Barrington 15-8 the first quarter, 20-10 the second, 25-12 the third, then settled down to 23-9 the final segment. It was just a case of Hebron having the ball, refusing to let Barrington play with it, and being accurate from the field.

The Green Giants made good on 46% of their attempts from the court, while Barrington notched 30 per cent.

Double weekend on tap for Heights; Palatine host to Libertyville; Bisons at N'brook

Basketball starts tapering off this week in some circles, though Arlington is still faced with a double week end. The Cardinals play at Glenbard Thursday night, and travel to St. Edward in Elgin Saturday night.

Thursday night, Feb. 21, Coach Ray DeGreeff's boys have a golden opportunity against Glenbard. They took Glenbard into camp January 12, 43-37, and the Hilltoppers have lost every league game since. Just prior to that loss Glenbard had beaten Maine, 60-39, for which the Des Plaines school gained revenge last week, 56-45.

MEANWHILE Arlington was trimming Maine and Riverside, and losing to York, Downers Grove, LaGrange and Hinsdale. For comparison's sake, Downers beat Arlington by five and three points, and trounced Glenbard by eight and five.

York beat Arlington by 23 and nine points. York lost to Glenbard by one early in the season, but beat the Glen Ellyn school by 13 two weeks ago. LaGrange beat Arlington by 36 and 18 points, and trounced Glenbard by 24 and 48.

LaGrange should gain revenge over Riverside Friday night, the only league five to hold a win over the Lyons township five (3 points). That result coupled with a Heights win could put the Cardinals in a tie for fifth or sixth place, depending upon Maine's game. The Riverside-Arlington battle a week later could then decide fifth spot in conference competition.

In other games in West Suburban league Friday night Maine plays at Hinsdale, York is at Downers Grove and LaGrange at Riverside.

PALATINE plays host to Libertyville Saturday night in their final game prior to opening of the Barrington regional the following week. The Pirates upset Libertyville early in January in an overtime. Bensenville plays its final regularly scheduled game Thursday night when the Bisons journey to Northbrook to play a postponed game.

Vawter has 7 goal lead in scoring

Jay Vawter, Arlington's sole entry in the top 25 scorers in West Suburban individual scoring, is holding down top spot in the field goal department by virtue of his 13 baskets Friday night against Hinsdale. Jay has sunk 87 to 80 for both Bob Lyons of Downers Grove and George Wolz of Riverside.

Jay's total is 206 points, third behind Lyons' 225 and Wolz' 217. Lyons and his Downers Grove mates, however, have just one league contest to go while the other two boys still have two games to play for old WSC.

Lou Haake, Jr., leads Mt. Prospect bowlers

The Bob Romans Pabst bowling team of Mt. Prospect traveled to Rudy Kraft's in Chicago last Sunday and after another high scoring and close match, came out on top by a mere 10 pins.

Much credit must go to Lou Haake Jr., who had a 665 series on games of 192, 253 and 220. Vern Soenksen was next with a 596 series.

Three of Rudy's boys hit 600 or better, Thompson, Speer and Milke getting 644, 608 and 600 respecively. A return match has been booked for the Mt. Prospect alleys March 16.

FROSH TO END SEASON

Arlington freshmen basketeers, coached by Bill Beckman, close their schedule with two road games next week, Palatine Tuesday afternoon and Niles Thursday afternoon, February 28. Both contests start at 4:00. The locals have a 5-5 record to date.

Art Kehe leading Elgin tournament

Bowling started Saturday in the Elgin bowling association tournament with Art Kehe of Palatine copping first in singles after the first week end of competition. He rolled actual 570 which gave him a 696 total.

John Geils of Bensenville is fifth with 598 actual, 658 total. W. Kornfiend of Bensenville is sixth with 563 actual, 657 total, at Bowlway Recreation. In the team event at Schneider's Recreation, Squire Shop of Palatine is second with 2728 actual, 3088 total. Richert's of Roselle ranks third with 2604 actual, 3030 total.

Bisons whip Mooseheart

Bensenville cagers gave fans plenty to crow about Saturday night when they copped a 66-65 overtime thriller from Mooseheart, after winning a 50-42 frosh-soph contest.

Symkowicz led the way with 19 points with teammate Merholtz garnering five buckets, and Karrigan, Palm and Szymonik all gathering in four apiece. Bensenville led the opening quarter, 13-12, and 31-28 at the half, but fell behind the third frame, 46-44. A 60-all tie prevailed in regulation time, after Mooseheart missed a game winning free throw with three seconds remaining.

OVERTIME victory was a surprise to all, inasmuch as the Bisons' height, Karrigan, Symkowicz and Palm, had all fouled out in regulation time. Sowers was top for the losers with 33 scores.

In the frosh-soph contest Mooseheart led only the opening quarter, 13-12, though they came within a single bucket of catching the young Bisons going into the home stretch.

High pointer for Bensenville was Long with 20. Walsh tallied 18. Scoring was evenly divided for Mooseheart.

This week, Thursday night, Bensenville was slated to play a postponed contest at Northbrook.

Varsity disappoints in Heights gym dedication game, 62-55

Frosh-sophs take two decisions by seven points

No one knew when gym dedication festivities got under way Friday night at Arlington Heights that most of the cheering was already over, but when the final whistle had been blown the local frosh-sophs, coached by Maurice Klotz, were the only ones to land on the long end of the scoring stick, 48-43.

It was a thriller all the way. Playing with plenty of spark and fight, plus smooth floor play at times, the yearlings were never headed but once. They kept just a notch ahead of Hinsdale all the way, keeping their hold on third place in the league.

THE FROSH-SOPHS are now one game ahead of York for show honors. They've won seven of 12, while the Elmhurst five has copped an even half dozen. York should whip Downers Grove this week, but then opposes unbeaten LaGrange frosh-sophs the following Friday.

With Heights it's about the same story. Odds favor the local second year boys against Glenbard Thursday night of this week, but pit Riverside against them the following week. In a previous meeting Riverside whipped Klotz' five, 56-43.

AGAINST Hinsdale Arlington held a 13-10 margin the opening segment, stretched it to 24-18 at intermission, then fell behind the only time of the contest at the three-quarter post, 34-32. The locals revived, however.

Roger Thomas was high scorer for Heights with six baskets, but Turner and Winterbauer were high accuracy boys at the charity line. Dave hit for five of six while Dick made five of eight. Those free throws took the game, for both squads made 15 baskets.

Slow quarter in the third for Heights included two buckets for George Skelton and one for Winterbauer.

SATURDAY NIGHT, with personnel changed to meet Crystal Lake's junior-varsity, the yearlings took a 36-34 decision with all twelve boys used by Coach Klotz. Crystal Lake plays JV ball in the North Suburban league and Arlington added a few varsity reserves for the contest.

Heights led at the quarters, 9-8, 18-15, and 25-24. Scoring was evenly divided for the locals, though for the second night in a row Dick Winterbauer made five free throws, this time batting 1.000 per cent.

Peterson was tops for the losers with twelve scores.

Tournament of Champions at Stadium opens Monday

Last year a fighting marine corporal, Kenny Davis, marched through the Tournament of Champions on a string of knock outs and wide margin decisions to capture the 126 pound championship. Kenny then went on to whip his Inter-City rival and knock out his International opponent.

Davis is stationed at San Diego and represents the Los Angeles Times. He has successfully defended his Pacific coast championship and will open defense of his crown Monday night.

A teammate of Davis, Herschel Action, will be making his fourth appearance in Chicago Stadium but will not see action until Tuesday. Action, also stationed at San Diego in the marine corps, represented the Oklahoma City Oklahoman in the lightweight or welterweight division three years and now is the Los Angeles Times 147 pound champion.

A boy who someday aspires to become a minister will be making his second appearance in the Chicago Stadium. He is Kenny Wright, a two-fisted 112 pounder of Gary, Ind. Wright won the Post-Tribune's flyweight championship last year and repeated this year. He was a member of the Inter-City team which was tied by New York last March and was on the roster of the International squad which whipped the Europeans in six out of eight matches.

Mail order requests for the Tournament of Champions and the Finals on March 7 should be directed to the Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago 11, Ill.

Local cage fans will be able to hear play-by-play reports of the Illinois High School basketball tournament over two Evanston radio stations as a result of arrangements completed this week by Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. Edward A. Wheeler (left), president of WEAW, and Lee Mehlig, program director of WNMP, watch Ken Reeling, district superintendent of Public Service Company, sign sponsor's agreement.

Descriptions of all night games of the "Sweet Sixteen" finals at Champaign, March 19-22, will be aired over WEAW. All morning and afternoon sessions will be broadcast by WNMP.

Marv Berschet copped the shot put against Indiana Saturday with a toss of 47' 11". The Illini indoor track squad won the meet. This Saturday the Illini oppose Drake.

Lawrence at Ripon

When the Lawrence college cagers invade Ripon college at Ripon, Wis., Saturday night, the two state rivals will clash for the eighty-fourth time. The visitors from Appleton, Wis., have the best of the series which began back in 1906, having won 46 while dropping 37.

The Vikings notched victory No. 46 earlier in the year with a one-point win over the Redmen on the Lawrence court. Close decisions have been typical of the battles carried on between the two colleges. No less than 18 of the decisions have been by either one or two points.

The lowest scoring affair in the age-old series was played back in 1924 when Lawrence posted a 13-6 victory while the largest total was rung up in 1950 with the Vikes shellacking the Redmen, 75-55.

Jim Brown, 5' 9" Arlington Heights sophomore, is on the "B" squad.

Wauconda upsets Grant in final Northwest play

Wauconda nipped Grant Friday night, 48-46, and moved up to a tie for third with Palatine in the final standings for the Northwest conference. The game was the tightest of the season all the way with scores of 19-18, 29-28, and 39-37 at the quarter intervals. Bob Nolan accounted for 21 points to boost his season total to 344 as compared with the former mark of 264. Norman Kersten aided Wauconda's cause with 13 points.

John Stob scored 20 for the Grant Bulldogs who finished undisputed second place winners in spite of their defeat. Grant's frosh-sophs beat Wauconda 33-31 to take over undisputed second place.

Antioch knocks out Ela in last half rally

Antioch knocked Ela-Yernon out of the first division by taking a high scoring 60-56 decision on their home court. In spite of 19 points by Cuscaden, 17 by Cole, and 14 by Prouty the Ela Bears were the losers. Antioch's scoring was balanced with Bob Lubkeman netting 17 points.

Antioch trailed, 40-23, at half time but rallied to narrow the count to 45-35 at the end of the third period. Scoring 24 points to Ela's 11 in the last period turned the trick for the Sequoits and gave Coach Scott's team its fourth win in 14 games. Antioch frosh-sophs, improving fast in recent weeks, knocked Ela out of a second place tie with a 51-39 victory.

Barrington outlasts Palatine to end league play unbeaten, 45-36

by GERRY McELROY

The Barrington Bronchos ended their last Northwest conference basketball campaign Friday night as they edged the Palatine Pirates, 45 to 36, on their home court to remain undefeated in 14 conference games. The Barrington frosh-sophs won their 37th conference game in a row, as they defeated Palatine by 32 points, 49 to 17.

The Bronchos bounced to an early 5 to 0 lead on Cochran's two field goals and one free throw. Schrage and Buenzow each hit from the field, but Cochran's deadly shooting put Barrington out in front at the quarter, eight to six. The Pirates led twice in the second quarter but could not hold on to a lead as McGowan scored six and Cochran four points. The Bronchos led at the half, 23 to 21.

BUENZOW TIED the score shortly after the third quarter had started but Barrington then scored seven consecutive points on baskets by Schwemm, McGowan and a basket and free throw by Cochran, to lead 32 to 27 going into the final segment. Shortly after the fourth quarter had started Meyer and Abrahamson fouled out, leaving Barrington to score nine points in a row. Cochran fouled out with four minutes left to play and Barrington stalled the remaining time to win, 45 to 36.

High scorers for Barrington were Cochran with 16 and McGowan with 15. Abrahamson had 11 for Palatine.

The Frosh-soph affair was a runaway for Barrington, as superior height and a stiff pressing defense played the main role in their 49 to 17 win. The Pirates never made over six points in a quarter and made only two out of 23 shots at the basket compared to Barrington's 19 out of 64.

High scorer for Barrington was Babb with 13 points and Saveley with 10. For Palatine Hapke and McElroy each had five. Saturday night the Pirates will meet Libertyville at home in the last game of the regular season.

Saturday Northern Illinois State's wrestlers will enter the Wheaton Invitational meet at Wheaton college, competing against seven other mid-western mat teams.

Coach Bob Kahler's squad will carry a 6-2 record into the meet, including wins over two of the teams entered in the meet, Marquette University and the Navy Pier Illini.

Other participants will be Illinois Normal, Augustana, Great Lakes naval training station, Chicago university, and the host Wheaton Crusaders. On the DeKalb squad is Bob Schulze, Arlington Heights, who is competing at 177 pounds.

Arlington grapplers take three, drop one

Arlington Heights wrestlers ended the regular season's competition this past week by taking three of four meets, defeating Maine, McHenry and Niles and losing a JV meet to Niles.

The varsity squad gained two pins, one of them a forfeit, and four decisions against McHenry for a 20-14 margin last week. Butler of Arlington pinned Thiel of McHenry in 1:10 of the third period. Closest decision taken by Heights was Sargent's victory over Crook of McHenry at 120 pounds, 3-2.

Other local decisions were rendered by Leckband at 145 pounds, Deschner at 165 and Brant in the heavyweight division.

MONDAY afternoon the varsity took the measure of Niles, 34-8. The Trojans took one decision when Carroll beat Schoenfeld of Arlington, 16-2, at 165 pounds, and Trendel pinned Carlino at 103 pounds in 1:59 of the third period. Carlino had been winning on points and if he could have hung on one more second he would have won.

Five pins were taken by Mulso at 112, Sargent at 120, Turk at 127, Schaeffer at 133 and Barr at 138 pounds. Decisions were gained by Deschner at 145, Leckband at 154 and Brant in the heavyweight class.

IN THE QUICKLY revised lineup, Coach George Torhan's junior-varsity grapplers took it on the chin against Niles, 13-10.

Kennicott of Arlington pinned Lander of Niles in :52 of the pin at 133. Thompson with a first period for Arlington's only decision at 112 pounds, and Bick with a draw at 154 pounds, were the only other points garnered for Heights.

A FROSH-SOPH meet with Maine brought the Cardinals another victory, 21-15. Maine started fast, gaining decisions in the 103, 112 and 120 pound classes.

Things started looking up when Turk of Arlington beat Lamb of Maine, 6-4, at 127 pounds, but Rude of Maine was exactly that as he downed Milnamow of Arlington, 9-5, at 133 pounds.

Schaeffer's pin in 1:30 of the third round was then followed by Deschner's decision, Butler's pin and Brant's pin for final victory.

Free trout fishing at sports show March 1-9

Chicago's hundreds of thousands of fishermen can experience a thrill at the International sports and outdoor show in the International Ampitheater March 1 to 9 at the free fishing pond.

There is no "gimmick" attached to the free fishing, except Saturdays and Sundays, in the huge trout pond stocked with fish waiting a fly.

For the Chicago fishermen who have never wet a line in the mountain trout streams, the outdoor show's free fishing will compensate, in a measure.

ARRANGEMENTS were made for several thousand pounds of trout with which to stock the outdoor show's trout pond.

In addition to the free fishing a live turkey shoot will be another attraction at the show for the sharpshooters who have always wanted to try their skill on the bird which furnished much sport to the earlier settlers of this area.

ENTRIES for the Chicagoland indoor amateur pitch and putt championships are beginning to flood the show offices at 28 E. Jackson blvd., from which each entrant will be mailed a card advising him or her of the tee time. The contest is in four divisions, senior and junior for men and women, boys and girls. In addition to trophies, the championships will bring merchandise certificates for $100, $50 and $25 for the first, second and third place winners in the four classes.

Bensenville beats Northbrook, 76-46

Bensenville, like the rest of the league, found Northbrook's hapless Vikings the right team with which to close the season, winning 76-46. Dale Symkowicz, who could not seem to get the points in early games, had a big night a week ago and last Friday counted 18 against Northbrook. Merholtz of the Bisons got 15 and Syzmonik and Palm got 13 each. Hauseman had a big night for the Vikings with 20 points. Landwehr got 13.

Northbrook Frosh-Sophs won their first basketball game of the season by defeating Bensenville, 38-37. Northbrook took an early 6-0 lead and at the end of the first quarter were out in front by a 12-4 score. Bensenville closed the gap a little in the second quarter with half-time tally 18-12. In the middle of the third quarter Bensenville tied the score at 24-all. Northbrook then scored a field goal but Bensenville tied it up with two foul shots.

At the end of the third period Northbrook was still on top, 30-28. In the last quarter Bensenville outscored Northbrook but the Vikings held on and won 38-37. High scorer for Northbrook was Roland Bizer with 16 points while Walsh was high for Bensenville with 13.

Lutheran girls swamped in last quarter, 49-22

For three quarters Palatine Lutheran girls held their own against Refiner's Pride girls five in the special basketball doubleheader Saturday night at Palatine, but then the roof fell in.

The local girls were ahead the opening period, were down six at halftime, caught up in the third period, then kissed the game goodbye as the Prides went wild.

A return game will be played at Stickney February 25. Palatine will meet Des Plaines on the latters' court Thursday night, February 21, for the district championship.

Palatine Lutheran boys won their game against Norwood Park in an overtime.

Glenbard splits with Maine

Glenbard's varsity cagers missed one of their few remaining chances to escape the conference cellar as Maine racked up a 58-45 victory over the visiting Hilltoppers Friday night.

It was a complete reversal of an earlier win in which the Bards posted their highest total of the season, 60 points. However, the Demons rocked the local crew in the first period, 20-11.

John Wise and Ronnie Walker paced the Glenbard crew, each passing through 14 markers. Both hit for six field goal tallies and a pair of free tosses.

MAINE WAS PACED by Steiner Matsch and Peterson. Steiner collected 17 points while Matsch and Peterson each dunked in five field goals.

After the Blue Devils surged out in front in the initial frame, they continued to forge ahead in the second round although they were slowed down a bit by the Hilltopper quintet.

The third frame found the Bards on the offense for once. They turned on a short splurge of power and sliced two points off Maine's margin. Their rally was cut short in the finale when the Demons outhit the varsity, 15-9.

THE GLENBARD Ponies turned on the charm in the final period to avenge an earlier season loss by edging the Maine yearlings, 41-37. However, they had a tough time convincing the younger Blue Devils of it until they had gathered up a four point margin with only a few minutes to go.

Dick Slater's accuracy at the free throw line gave the Bards the necessary margin for victory with John Newkirk adding insurance by pumping in a drive in shot with only 45 seconds remaining to put the game on ice and curtail the 10-game losing streak of the Ponies. The win, their second of the current campaign, hoisted the junior Hilltoppers within shooting distance of sixth place.

Denny Cook spearheaded the locals' attack by racking up five field goals and nine charity tosses for 19 points while teammate Tom Peters collected five baskets and a pair of charities for 12.

Maine's forward, Schon, was big gun in the opposition's attack. With a deadly hook shot, Schon pushed through 11 baskets and cashed in on a trio of free tosses. No other Maine player was able to collect over five markers.

Termites

It is only when buildings are not properly built or maintained that serious damage is done by subterranean termites or decay fungi.

But boys look good Saturday in loss to Lakers

Lack of a scoring punch other than Jay Vawter, plus a weak defense, cost Arlington another game Friday night, this time before a gym dedication crowd of almost 3,000. Jay did his part, making 33 points, Johnny Eakins struck four times, but other than that not one Heights cager counted more than twice. Arlington lost to Hinsdale, 62-55.

With Jay Vawter making good on his first four attempts at the new net, and accounting for 11 of his team's 15 scores the first quarter, Arlington fans had hopes of repeating the earlier four point win over the Hinsdale Red Devils.

BUT COACH Ray DeGreeff's boys lacked the defense to stop Hinsdale, particularly Art Zitzka and George Moyers, who accounted for 21 and 15 points. It was a "take your turn" scoring affair with Hinsdale taking the lead in the last second of the first half, 28-27. From then on, though Arlington kept up for eight minutes, the end was rarely in doubt.

A 16-8 final stanza only served to accentuate Arlington's bad night, in fouls as well as defense. Eakins and Schmidt fouled out early, with Klink and Grace following. None of the 12 Hinsdale boys used were eliminated via the foul route.

BRIGHT SPOT in the feature game was Jay Vawter. His hook shot worked beautifully. After that first quarter's 11 points Jay slowed to only four the second segment, but the three boys guarding him were partly responsible.

The second half Jay got rolling again, hitting for four baskets and three charities the third round, and finishing with three and one the final quarter.

Only other field goals tallied by Arlington, other than by Vawter and Eakins, were one apiece by Klink and Chamberlain the second period, one by Grace in the third, and one apiece by Grace and Klink the final quarter.

SATURDAY NIGHT, before a much smaller crowd but again in the new gym, Arlington looked much better in losing to Crystal Lake, 51-39. It wasn't the score, or the baskets that made the difference. It was the floor play, the passing, the quick decisions that found Arlington relaxing and playing their best ball of the season.

Crystal Lake took a four point lead the opening frame, 15-11, continued it at the half, 25-21, and lengthened it a bit going into the final period, 39-33.

Once again it was Vawter tallying ten times from the field and sinking four of eight free throws. Eakins accounted for seven points for number two rating locally. The Lakers' leading scorer, Fritz Schneider, swished in seven buckets and nine of 12 free throws for 23 scores. Peterson accounted for six and six for 18 points.

IN EIGHTEEN games Arlington's number two scorer has accounted for more than four baskets just once, against Hinsdale January 11 when Eakins sank six. On three occasions three baskets have been second high and in two games a single pair has been the biggest help to Vawter.

It is true it takes four other players to enable one tall boy to score his 18 point average, game after game, but no team with most of the scoring centered in one boy will ever win many ball games.

The Heights lads make them in practice but still get stage fright on game nights. One youth, kidded about his unusual accuracy in practice, has made 19 baskets in 12 league contests. He was shut out four times, and scored one bucket twice.

Des Plaines okays new school site

Des Plainesites—569 of them—put an emphatic stamp of approval on buying a new 20 acre school site for a second grade school.

On the proposition to purchase the tract—located on the south side of Algonquin rd. near Fourth ave.—at a cost of about $50,000, 453 indicated "yes" while 81 said "no." There were four spoiled ballots.

Maligned Whistle

The much maligned "Whistle Punk" actually has the very responsible job in the Douglas fir region forests of transmitting orders from the rigging slinger and hook tender as signals to the donkey engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Koske of Arlington Heights joined Emil Losi (left) of Stevensville, Mich., on a recent successful deep-sea fishing trip in the Gufstream off Fort Lauderdale beach. Mrs. Koske hooked a sailfish weighing 52 pounds and measuring 7 feet, 1 inch. All told, the threesome brought in three sailfish, three bonito, three kingfish, two dolphin and one amberjack. The Koskes are winter vacationing here.

PLANNING ON SELLING YOUR HOME?

You can sell it, sure you can!
But can you get the price
A skillful realtor can get
If you heed his advice?
And tho the "prospect" thinks your home
The finest in the land
Can you finance him if he lacks
A few essential "grand"?
And can you screen the buyers
From the ones who love to roam
And save their curiosity
By roaming thru your home?
And do you realize the cost
Of "ads" that still may fail;
And all the details and the risk
In closing up a sale.
But should you still need expert help
Just give our firm a call
And dump the whole thing in our lap
And let us do it all!

Arizona seeks federal irrigation at $20 per person in Illinois

The taxpayers of America are being asked to subsidize farm land in Arizona to the tune of $1,838 an acre in order that a few Arizona landowners may secure Colorado river water to grow more field crops.

A bill known as S. 75 now pending in Congress would authorize an irrigation project for 226,000 acres of Arizona farm land with the interest alone costing the nation's taxpayers $2,075,729,000.

Taxpayers in Illinois would pay $157,548,000 as their contribution to the costly undertaking.

New lands brought under cultivation in Central Arizona during the past 10 years have overextended the state's underground water supplies at present pumping levels. Sinking deeper wells would solve the problem but as wells go deeper, costs go up. So, the Arizona irrigators have hit upon the idea of having their operations subsidized by taxpayers generally in all the states. The beneficiaries would pay only 37/100 of 1% of the two billion tax cost, that being the percentage Arizona contributes to the nation's coffers, according to a tabulation of the council of state chambers of commerce.

Principal construction features of the costly project are described in Senate Bill 75, now pending in Congress. They include (1) Bridge Canyon Dam and power plant on the Colorado river, 120 miles above Hoover (Boulder) Dam, (2) Parker pump lift, to take irrigation water from the Colorado river near Parker Dam and lift it to a total height of 985 feet, (3) a 300-mile system of canals and pipe lines to deliver water for raising ordinary field crops, such as hay and potatoes, on Arizona lands.

About your income tax

JOHN T. JARECKI

Certain items of income are specifically exempted by federal laws and regulations and are not subject to federal tax. A brief discussion of some of these items will prove helpful in the preparation of your 1951 income tax return.

Some nontaxable items:

1. Railroad Retirement Act benefits are not taxable.
2. Workmen's Compensation and unemployment compensation are not taxable.
3. Social Security and old age benefits which you may receive are also nontaxable.

4. THE RENTAL value of a home and its furnishings provided for the pastor of a church are not taxable. However, if he receives a special allowance in cash for his rent quarters, this amount is considered compensation for his services and is fully taxable.

5. Amounts received under a life insurance contract, paid by reason of the death of the insured, are excluded from gross income.

THE DIVIDENDS you receive on your mutual life insurance policy are not taxable income, but merely represent a reduction of the cost of your protection by the company, whether you accept the cash or allow the dividends to remain with the company to purchase additional insurance.

If your endowment policy has matured and the amount of money you receive is greater than the cost to you, you must report as taxable income the excess of the amount you receive over the cost. But, if you receive proceeds of a life insurance policy upon the death of an insured person, you do not report this money as income.

INTEREST from $5,000.00 of principal of federal bonds issued before March 1, 1941, is exempt from federal tax.

Interest received from municipal bonds or from county or state issues are tax exempt, but you cannot deduct the interest you pay on money you borrow to buy such bonds.

The 1951 Revenue Act for taxable years beginning after 1950, exempts from tax, death benefits not in excess of $5,000 paid to beneficiaries of an employee by the employer on account of the death of the employee. This exemption from tax is made possible by a pre-existing contract legally obligating the employer to make such payment. However, where the employer holds such payments under an agreement to pay interest thereon, the interest payments are includible in gross income.

DAMAGES paid to you for personal injury are not taxable nor are the insurance benefits you receive while sick. It is important to remember that any hospitalization reimbursement or health and accident benefits you received must be deducted from the allowable medical bills.

Gifts are excludible from gross income even though the income from a gift is taxable. Tips are not gifts and are, therefore, taxable income.

FOR TAXABLE years beginning after June 25, 1950 and prior to January 1, 1954, pay received by enlisted men, warrant officers and commissioned warrant officers need not be reported when receiver for active service in the Armed Forces of the United States for any months during any part of which the taxpayer served in a combat zone, or was hospitalized at any place as a result of wounds, disease or injury incurred in such service. The first $200.00 per month paid to commissioned officers for service in a combat zone is also exempt.

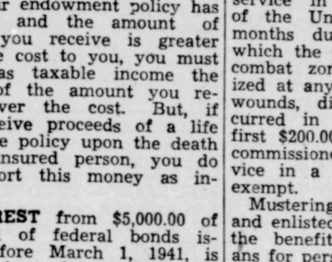

Mustering-out pay of officers and enlisted men is exempt, and the benefits allowed to veterans for personal injuries or sickness which resulted from service in the Armed Forces of the United States.
